BISHOP BARNWELL IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER ACTIVITIES

Thinks That School Paper Will Be Binding Influence Upon the Student Body

President Bishop Barnwell welcomes the publication of the first Boise Junior College newspaper. In a recent congratulation message the president said that this newspaper will furnish a means of publicity which the school has lacked until now.

In congratulating the paper for its advancement of school activities Bishop Barnwell predicted that the publication will have a binding influence upon the student body and that the newspaper's success will depend upon its reception and its news contributions. The Bishop, himself, plans to be a frequent contributor.

"Through this paper," said Bishop Barnwell, "I wish to extend my congratulations to our football team. In the game played Thursday, October 12 the team represented the courage and fairness of the Junior College." The Bishop commended also the blue and orange spectacle which the boys presented, and he expressed his enthusiasm for Jun Yamamoto's newly organized pep band which Bishop Barnwell hopes will directly influence the composition of new school yells and all school rooting section.

The last of this week Bishop Barnwell and Mrs. Barnwell are leaving for New York. Other business and frequent trips keep the Bishop from giving as much time as he would like to give to the campus. However, he gave out the statement that he has formed a board of trustees, made up of eleven Boise business men and women, which is now working on a plan of ways and means for the Junior College.

School Christens Paper With Name Signifying Old Traditions of West

The paper name contest closed Tuesday with about 25 names entered for the prize of one dollar offered by the staff for the best name. "The Roundup" was the chosen name, but no signature was attached to the blank.

Good names, bad names, names that could not be classed at all were handed in. "The contest was a little disappointing," said the sponsors, "inasmuch as not the interest was shown as expected."

However, it can be said that the name is well liked by the student body and the staff hopes to make the paper live up to its name in regard to "rounding up" all the available news and publishing it for the benefit of the school at large.

Senator Borah Speaks on Soviet Recognition

U. S. Senator William E. Borah

In an address given by Senator Borah at the Boise Junior College October 18 he advocated the recognition of Russia by the world powers and stated that the time is near at hand when the problems of the Soviet Union will be established.

His speech, delivered in an informal but effective manner, was greatly appreciated by the students and faculty members. He congratulated Bishop Barnwell and his associates upon their successful efforts at building an educational institution and wished the new college great success in the future.

Going further into the Russian problem he stated that nothing is to be gained by refusing recognition and much will be gained by recognizing Russia as a nation. It occupies about one-sixth of the earth's surface and its natural resources are vastly undeveloped. It has been going through a great change in the last 15 years, trying to establish a substantial government as a result of the war in Europe.

"Recognition of one government by another," Borah said, "in no way means that it is indorsed or thoroughly approved. When the conference meets in Geneva we must meet the Russian representatives and discuss with them this vital problem. All will have equal parts as men who come there as representatives of their own government.

"Russia has the greatest potential undeveloped market for products manufactured in the United States. Europe is taking care of her own affairs, making more and more of the things she needs. The markets of Europe will be enlarged to no great extent as far as the United States is concerned and as Russia and China are just coming into the modern civilization there is a great demand for our products in their markets."

Bringing in the disarmament question of Europe, Borah stated that until the Russian problem is settled there will be no disarmament among the nations of the old world. "We must have cooperation for stabilization of international markets," said Borah. "Every nation in the world is enlarging its trade agreements with Russia. We are anxious to extend our trade so the United States can take a chance on recognizing Russia from the trading point of view. Surely if the European countries which lie so close to Russia will take the chance of recognizing her, we, who are many thousand miles distant, can take the same chance.

"Since the time of the czars, during the new government, Russia has done great things along the lines of education. They are educating their children in the best possible way, with the hope that the future generation will do much for their country. The condition of the common people as a whole, has not progressed in rapid strides but their condition as a whole has been somewhat better than before."

DRAMATIC CLUB NOT TO BE ORGANIZED THIS SEMESTER

At a recent meeting of the students who are interested in dramatics, the fate of the anticipated dramatic club was decided. There were about 20 students and the dramatic instructor present and they felt, that as the students were already assessed to the limit, such an organization could not be afforded.

However, it is hoped by Dr. Childs, dramatic instructor, that later in the year the students who are interested in dramatics will be able to present a few one-act plays.

Elmer Chaffee and Bill Chatterton have pledged Beta Theta Pi at the University of Idaho.

B.J.C. MEETS DEFEAT IN FIRST GRIDIRON SCRIMMAGE OF YEAR

Fumbling Largely Responsible for 6-0 Defeat Handed by St. Joseph's on Columbus Day

Early season fumbling was largely responsible for a 6-0 defeat of the Orange and Blue by St. Joseph's at Public School Field on Columbus Day. It was the first game of the season for the college eleven.

A college fumble early in the game gave St. Joseph's the ball on the college's 40-yard line. A long pass a moment later, Nyedigger to Orbea, caught the college secondary short, and Orbea romped over for the game's only score.

Although B. J. C. was constantly threatening throughout the rest of the game, costly fumbles stopped several drives. However, two of the attacks carried the college far into St. Joseph's territory. One drive, late in the first half, ended only when a pass into the end zone slipped through Shaw's fingers. The other, in the third quarter, was stoppd by St. Joseph's on the 3-yard marker. St. Joseph's never seriously threatened after their one score, and was content to play defensively, protecting their 6-point lead.

The college eleven showed unexpected power in their first game, gaining constantly with Shaw and Kloepfer running the ball. Several nice passes were completed. Defensively, the college team showed great strength, the line holding well. Martin backed up the line, and consistently broke up St. Joseph's running attack. Pass defense was weak, with St. Joseph's making most of their gains through the air. Shaw's punting promises to get the college out of many tight holes this season.

The B. J. C. plays its next game with Emmett High School on Oct. 27 at Boise.

Cantata to Be Given During Xmas Season

This year, the glee club of the Boise Junior College consists of twenty-four members. At present, the mixed chorus is working on a cantata to be presented during the Christmas season. After the cantata they will start to work on a concert which will be given in the spring of next year.

The glee club is under the direction of James L. Strachen.

"YELLOW PERIL"

Professor Eugene Chaffey was interrupted in his political science discussion Monday when a yellow-jacket entered the room and went buzzing around his head. It was great amusement for the class to see Mr. Chaffey dodging around in front of the room, trying to elude the persistent insect.

FROM THE EDITOR

This college has only begun. The goal is on the horizon. We are like the traveler who started out in the morning and sighting a path that lay before him, questioned:

"Does the road wind up the hill all the way?"

"Yes, to the very end."

"Will the day's journey take the whole long day?"

"From morn till night, my friend."

This practical bit of wisdom by Alfred Tennyson can be readily fit to this growing institution. We are but a fortnight on our journey and the path is steep with many bends and pitfalls. It will take "From morn till night" to accomplish the task that is set before us, but with the help of each and every individual we can make this school one to be proud of anywhere within the state.

As editor of this paper I wish to express on behalf of the staff, that through its columns we will do our best to help the school reach that goal it has set out to make.

Our platform will be to inject into the veins of every student a school spirit that cannot die; to let Boise and the surrounding country know of the happenings of the school; and to back every school enterprise that may develop.

So we hope with sincerity, that this paper will be a stepping stone upon the path to success, from which the Boise Junior College may climb to the goal set by its founders.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS?

Now, as never before in our country's history, comes a desperate cry for firm and competent leadership in its affairs of state and whole-hearted and intelligent cooperation among the masses.

This leadership will germinate and flower from us of the rising generation. For those before us have, putting it frankly, thrown things into a woeful mess, and we must step in under a terrific handicap and attempt to restore order and harmony out of confusion.

College students are naturally assumed to be more competent and advanced along certain lines than those not taking part in higher education. Strictly speaking, this is true. But we must overcome one great fault characteristic of the American, and that fault is apathy. A lively and constructive interest in public affairs should fit in with the programme of every student, for laxity on the part of the citizen paves the way for corruption and evils in government.

STUDENT CO-OPERATION

No first edition of a school paper would be complete without a splurge on the died-in-the-wool bywords—"school spirit" and cooperation. Nevertheless, they are indispensable elements in the make-up of every institution.

In the short life of Boise Junior College, there has never been any necessity to plead for cooperation on the student body's part in the various campus activities. There has been a whole-hearted unity of spirit that has characterized the spirit of the place from the very outset. May it never lag or grow weary.

CAN YOU HELP?

There have been a few complaints of late against the raising of the B. J. C. student body fee from $2.50 to $4.00, some of them rising from antipathy to the idea of any further assessments, others from lack of money to pay them.

Let it be made clear, however, that the $4.00 fee was not established just to be doing, so to speak, but for the purpose of putting competitive athletics, as well as other extra-curricular activities, on a firm basis at Boise Junior College. While it does work a hardship on a few people, the broader benefits derived therefrom can easily be seen—more and better athletic contests, as well as a more comprehensive system of campus activities.

A PROFESSOR'S LECTURE

You studied, or did you study—that is the question;

Whether 't is nobler in the minds of students

To suffer and sorrow over outrageous lessons,

Or to take arms against a group of teachers.

And by opposing make us mad. To madden—to anger—

No more; and by anger to say we can Give F's, F's, F's and more F's

That we have courage to do—'t is a common thing

Devoutly within our power. To madden—to anger—

To anger! perchance to kill! Ay, there's the rub;

For in that anger of desperation, what thoughts may come

When we have given you all but the club.

Must give us pause; there's the defect

That makes teachers so short of life; So get your lessons.

Here And There On The College Campus

A non-industrious youth saunters out from the rear entrance of the college. "Guess I'll have a smoke.....I wonder where all the boys are? I'm out of cigarettes.....Dont think I want to smoke anyhow.....Oh, well, I'll go over and sun myself there on the bench.....I wonder what that is?By golly, it's some girl's purse... I wonder whose it is.....No name on it, guess I'll look inside.....Whew! the perfume.....My gosh, what's that little piece of cloth.....It must be a handkerchief.....Here's a comb and a fingernail file.....Wonder what's in that little package.....Oh, just a broken set of beads.....By golly there's a dandy set of ear-rings..... Still no name.....Here's a cute little compact.....What's this, another compact?.....No, it can't be. It isn't the right shape.....It's too wide....Think I'll open it.....Whoops! Some cigarettes!.....My what a life saver.... Think I'll have a smoke after all.... Gee whiz! Here's some matches, too. (After lighting cigarettes).....I wonder whose purse this is.

Say, we haven't seen Ernest Allman and Betty Calloway parking of late during the noon hour. Wonder what could be the cause? Oh, yes, Ernest is a working man now and he has no time for such trivial things. "Too bad, Betty."

Otto Powers doesn't seem to have any luck bagging a deer this year. Could it be that he has lost his sex appeal?

David Pinkson, the school's philosopher, politician, psychologist, sociologist and all-around hot-cha man, states that women are the bane of humanity. But poor Dave in the next breath says that the women are like the rose of dawn coming out of the east to cheer man on in this struggle for life's happiness—and oh, how he loves 'em.

KOLLEGE KOLIKS

The editorial staff of this paper is very fortunate and proud to have as one of its staff writers none other than the famous Breadline Hunter, that terse voiced and dramatic presenter of news that is news—none other than Goyd Flibbins—who will be a permanent contributor to this column. Mr. Flibbins' column follows:

Hello, ginks, guys, babes, and fraills. Talk about your old trouble in Manchuria. Heard the tail end of a swell joke just as I was diving out the second floor window of the Y. W. C. A. Landed head first in a manhole, and when they fished me out I'd forgotten all about it. Talk about your old trouble in Manchuria. Just got out of jail. Got thirty days for striking a happy medium. Am I ossified!

Well, boys and girls, I listened to a speech by Mr. Mark Requa the other day. When he was in the middle of his talk I just couldn't hold out any longer. I up and shouted "Eureka!" Talk about your old trouble in Manchuria! Oh, Oh! My time's up. Got to be leaving you now. Don't forget the old Breadline Hunter until the next time he comes to you, and send in fifteen cents and a self-addressed envelope care of the Salvation Army Rescue Station for one of my free autographed photographs. Remember, this offer is only good until I rake up enough dough to go out of town.

JOKES

Father Crooks: "What does "60" on your grade card mean, Clyde?"

Clyde: "Oh—er—that must — that must have been the temperature in the room where I took the test."

Betty Mc.: "Oh, look, the players are all covered with mud. How will they get it off?"

Blanche W.: "What do you suppose the scrub team is for?"

And they tell this one about Johnny D., coming home from his first day at school. He announced proudly that he could write. To prove it, he made a great many scrawls on a piece of paper.

Otto P., about to purchase a seat for the cinema in the afternoon, was asked by the box-office girl:

"Why aren't you in school?"

"Oh, it's all right," said Otto, earnestly. "I've got the measles."

Dr. Child's: "Miss Russell, why is your quiz paper covered with quotation marks,"

Phoebe: "Isn't there a rule against plagiarism?"

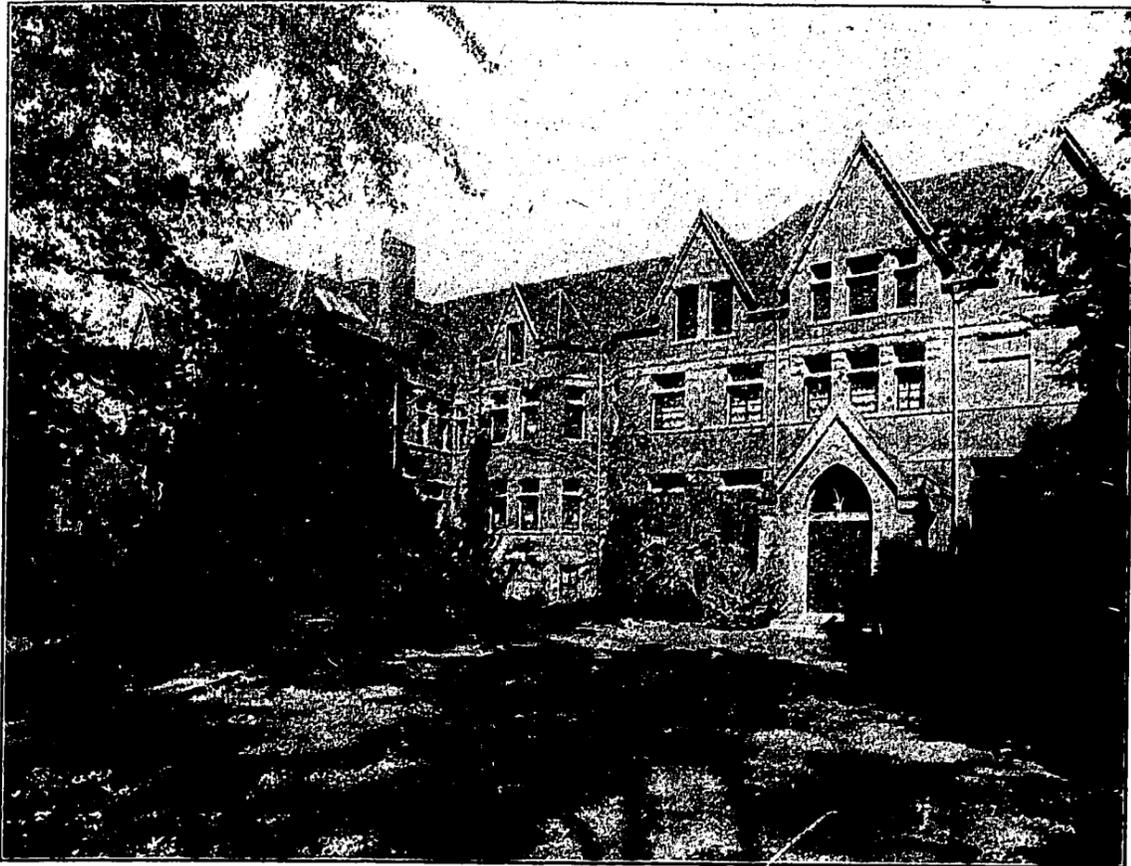

Doris K.: "Why do women, as a rule, talk more than men do?"

Harriet D.: "I suppose it is because they have the men to talk about."

Mrs. Hatch: "Who can give me a sentence containing the word insulate?"

Dorothy H.: "At the breakfast table Ma said to Pa: 'How come you got insulate?'"

Boise Junior College

The Boise Junior College was organized in the spring of 1932, and opened in September, 1932, at St. Margaret's school, with a first-year registration of just under the hundred.

The college occupies one block in the east end of Boise, between Bannock and Idaho streets. The buildings included St. Margaret's hall, the original building dating from 1892, which houses a dormitery for 30 girls, a library, the administrative offices, and a cafeteria in the dining room; Buchan, named for Miss Frances M. Buchan, the first principal of St. Margaret's school; Trinity, containing the chemistry laboratory, the stock rooms, and a large classroom; Talbot Gymnasium, named in honor of Bishop Ethelbert Talbot, who founded St. Margaret's school, was erected in 1932, and St. Margaret's chapel, for special services and programs.

The administrative officers were, and are, the Rt. Reverend Bishop Middleton S. Barnwell, D. D., president; Dorothy Frances Atkinson, Ph. D., Academic Dean; Mrs. Katharine E. Cole, registrar, and Miss Ruth Payne, head of St. Margaret's hall.

The college is fully accredited in all courses.

FORMER STUDENT TEACHES

Three students and one faculty member of the Boise High School met in room 212 in the interest of Esperanto. They were quickly organized and instructor Clark Falls, p.g. of the Boise High School, assumed the role of teacher. Hoyt Cooper, history teacher and former instructor of the club, fell to the level of pupil because, as he explained, "Esperanto is a language easily learned and is as easily forgotten."

The club numerically speaking is not large, but much enthusiasm was displayed. To quote instructor Falls, "The purpose primarily is to learn the language, but later we will correspond with groups in other countries and discuss the various angles of the language."

We Wonder If...

Art Allman likes his new cognomen, "The Other Mr. Galloway." (The credit for this goes to dear old "Doc Sievers.")

Mr. Emerson and Bishop Barnwell would like to follow the carpenter trade.

Notes From The Faculty

WATCH THIS COLUMN

The administration has been quite disappointed in the chapel attendance this fall. In an effort to make it an integral part of college life, chapel has been scheduled at an hour convenient for everyone. It is a little disconcerting that the interest in chapel has not been greater. The administration will appreciate your suggestions and comments in regard to the form of the service and the nature of the subject which you would like to have discussed by speakers. A question-box has been placed in St. Margaret's hall near the bulletin board, and you are requested to place your suggestions in this box. Such contributions may be made anonymously, if you prefer.

It is requested in the interest of greater quiet and general comfort, that faculty and students refrain from parking cars in the rear courtyard. Cars may be parked on First or Second or Bannock, but not on Idaho street.

The Dean's office wishes to call to the attention of all students, but especially of sophomores, the provisions of the catalogue in regard to graduation. A graduation certificate from Boise Junior College may be granted to any student who completes sixty (60) academic hours with a ratio of C or one (1), and presents the required physical education hours for each semester of attendance.

But a graduation certificate does not, automatically, carry with it "recommendation of the college." To secure the recommendation of the college, a student must also "earn a grade of C or better in three-quarters of the hours taken."

All students should understand this distinction. It is explained on page 13 of the 1933-34 catalogue. Questions in regard to it will be answered in the Dean's office.

OFFICERS FOR W. A. A. ELECTED

Callaway Chosen as President; Two Places to Be Filled at Next Meeting

Psychology Laboratory Equipped With New Material; Education Department Has Been Enlarged

The Women's Athletic Association works in conjunction with the physical education classes. Any Freshman or Sophomore girl is eligible. The purpose of the group is to create sportsmanship and school spirit among the students. However, there must be at least fifteen girls in the organization or it will not be possible to go on.

The officers are Betty Callaway, president; Lois Rankin, vice president; Ruth Fuhrman, secretary-treasurer, and Lucille Nelson, athletic manager. At the next meeting two new officers are to be elected to replace Lois Rankin and Ruth Fuhrman.

There are various awards of letters, numerals, and blazers. In order to get a blazer a girl must have two letters and for two letters she must get eight numerals which are equal to about two years' work. Points for numerals may be gained by participating in all sports, namely, basketball, volley ball, hockey, soccer, track, archery, baseball, skiing, hiking, roller-skating, swimming, in all festivals and pageants and by being an officer of the club.

Gym Classes Playing Soccer at School Field

Soccer on a football field? Imagine that! The college girls are doing it just the same. Gym classes meet twice a week under Miss Ruth Payne at Public School Field. The girls are learning soccer and are progressing so well that there are going to be some tournaments. There will be a game between the Freshmen and the Sophomores and also one between two color teams. Soccer will probably last until about Thanksgiving.

Basketball and volley ball will start in the gym after Thanksgiving. These tournaments will be held sometime soon after Christmas.

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS ADDED

With the commencing of the second year of Boise Junior College, five new members have been added to the faculty, making it one of the most complete of any junior college in Idaho.

Two of the new professors have received their doctor's degree: Herbert E. Childs, A. B., Oberlin, Ph. D., University of Washington, has been teaching at the University of Washington, while C. F. Sievers, E. S., and Y. S., University of Idaho, Ph. D. University of Iowa comes from Huron College, South Dakota.

The chemistry department is under the direction of Calvin Emerson, B. S. College of Idaho, M. S., University of Idaho, and formerly a teaching fellow at Moscow. His assistant is James Bruce, B. S., University of Idaho.

Phyllis Wilson, a graduate of Boise High School and holding a B. A. degree at Stanford, completes the list. Miss Wilson teaches Spanish.

Boys Outnumber the Girls by One; Whole School Increased

The total number of students this year is 113, surpassing that of last year by 25 per cent. Fifty-two students could not comprehend 'living' without dear old B. J. C., and returned to strengthen her morals and raise her standards. Sixty-one students are trodding her campus for the first time, most of whom are freshmen.

The boys outnumber the girls by one, 57 answering to their roll call.

Other states are well represented in Boise Junior College. From Minnesota comes one student, one from Kentucky, one from Oregon, and the rest from Idaho. Towns from different sections all over Idaho are the homes of most of the students. Those represented are, American Falls, Coeur d'Alene, Fort Hall, Cascade, Grandview, Nampa, Melba, Pocatello, Boise, Parma, Kuna, Barber, Buhl, Emmett, Weiser, Wallace, Salmon and Kellogg.

Freshmen Organize at Boise Junior College By Electing Officers

The first piece of legislative work for the Freshmen was the election of officers held during the second week of school in the auditorium. The following will hold offices: Loren Hicks, president; Phoebe Russell, vice president; Robert Shaw, secretary, and Richard Martin, treasurer. Elaine Whitson and Jun Yamamoto will be the Freshmen representatives.

The officers were nominated from the floor at the meeting, and the class representatives were nominated by petition.

All those elected are residents of Boise.

W. A. A. HAS HUNT

The W. A. A. sponsored their first treasure hunt under the direction of Betty Callaway and Lucille Nelson on Wednesday, October 11. The trail was marked by red ribbons hung on various objects along the way and led out behind the barracks. There, Blanche Wernette unearthed the treasure of lollipops and after the girls had enjoyed a supper of weiners, bacon and buns, they adjourned for home in cars.

EVENING CLASSES IN FRENCH AND SPANISH TO BE GIVEN

Evening classes in beginning French and Spanish are being planned by Miss Phyllis Wilson and Mrs. Camilla Powers, Spanish and French teachers of the Boise Junior College.

There will be a class conducted once a week in their homes and membership is open to any adult wishing these subjects. A small fee will be charged for the lessons. Any one interested is advised to get in touch with the teachers mentioned above.

CONDUCT SWIMMING CLASSES

There are two swimming classes, beginners and advanced swimmers. These are being conducted at the "Nat." The advanced students are to learn life saving when the opportunity is presented.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS HOLD HIGH HONORS

Sam Foster was elected the first president of the Boys' Federation of Boise High School. Ardis Simpson was elected Girls' Club president. Boise High Lights.
