12-4-2020

Shared Stories Lab

Paris Boddie
Boise State University

Emily Arnold
Boise State University

Amy Mallory
Boise State University

Kacey Bates

This research is part of the Shared Stories Lab project.
Abstract
Shared Stories Lab's mission is to collect and share stories of Boise State University and the local community, with the goal to develop adaptable, ethical models of oral history collection that create greater understanding and empathy. Student researchers will describe the process of creating an oral history Open Educational Resource composed of campus community stories and how they adapted to the pandemic.

Keywords
business and economics, communication and journalism, humanities, shared stories lab, social and behavioral sciences

Comments
This research is part of the Shared Stories Lab project.

This student presentation is available at ScholarWorks: https://scholarworks.boisestate.edu/vip_2020/16
SHARED STORIES LAB MISSION

Our goal is to collect and share stories of Boise State University and the local community, with the goal of developing adaptable, ethical models of narrative collection that create greater understanding and empathy.

WHY JOIN SHARED STORIES LAB?

"Shared Stories Lab provided me with both foundational and innovative skills and insights for telling student stories. I was able to sit with a university hiring committee and communicate the value of student stories and my value as a storyteller—and I got the job."

-Pamela Craig

Opportunities include:
- Conducting interviews
- Grant writing
- Collage/media-based story collection
- Blog writing
- Implementing a social media campaign

Learn more at:
www.boisestate.edu/sharedstorieslab/

SHARED STORIES LAB CURRENT STUDENTS
Paris Boddie, Emily Arnold, Amy Mallory, and Kacey Bates

SHARED STORIES LAB MISSION

Our goal is to collect and share stories of Boise State University and the local community, with the goal of developing adaptable, ethical models of narrative collection that create greater understanding and empathy.

WHY JOIN SHARED STORIES LAB?

"Shared Stories Lab provided me with both foundational and innovative skills and insights for telling student stories. I was able to sit with a university hiring committee and communicate the value of student stories and my value as a storyteller—and I got the job."

-Pamela Craig

Opportunities include:
- Conducting interviews
- Grant writing
- Collage/media-based story collection
- Blog writing
- Implementing a social media campaign

Learn more at:
www.boisestate.edu/sharedstorieslab/

SHARED STORIES LAB MISSION

Our goal is to collect and share stories of Boise State University and the local community, with the goal of developing adaptable, ethical models of narrative collection that create greater understanding and empathy.

WHY JOIN SHARED STORIES LAB?

"Shared Stories Lab provided me with both foundational and innovative skills and insights for telling student stories. I was able to sit with a university hiring committee and communicate the value of student stories and my value as a storyteller—and I got the job."

-Pamela Craig

Opportunities include:
- Conducting interviews
- Grant writing
- Collage/media-based story collection
- Blog writing
- Implementing a social media campaign

Learn more at:
www.boisestate.edu/sharedstorieslab/

SHARED STORIES LAB MISSION

Our goal is to collect and share stories of Boise State University and the local community, with the goal of developing adaptable, ethical models of narrative collection that create greater understanding and empathy.

WHY JOIN SHARED STORIES LAB?

"Shared Stories Lab provided me with both foundational and innovative skills and insights for telling student stories. I was able to sit with a university hiring committee and communicate the value of student stories and my value as a storyteller—and I got the job."

-Pamela Craig

Opportunities include:
- Conducting interviews
- Grant writing
- Collage/media-based story collection
- Blog writing
- Implementing a social media campaign

Learn more at:
www.boisestate.edu/sharedstorieslab/

SHARED STORIES LAB MISSION

Our goal is to collect and share stories of Boise State University and the local community, with the goal of developing adaptable, ethical models of narrative collection that create greater understanding and empathy.

WHY JOIN SHARED STORIES LAB?

"Shared Stories Lab provided me with both foundational and innovative skills and insights for telling student stories. I was able to sit with a university hiring committee and communicate the value of student stories and my value as a storyteller—and I got the job."

-Pamela Craig

Opportunities include:
- Conducting interviews
- Grant writing
- Collage/media-based story collection
- Blog writing
- Implementing a social media campaign

Learn more at:
www.boisestate.edu/sharedstorieslab/