Eugene PERKINS will be portrayed by Gordon Smith, Dulcy's husband, an alert young man engaged in the selling of artificial jewelry.

Daly, taking advantage of his paleness, interferes with his business most of the time.

The supporting cast includes Bill Hillman as C. Roger Forbus; Charles Baxter as Vincent Leach; Jim Hawley as Henry J. P. and Lois Patterson; Robert Remulaites; Ten Sterrett; Charles Lukh; William Green; Sue Long; Mrs. Forbus; Barbara Caine, Angela, Patricia Dickerson; and Edith French Schuyler Van Dyke.

The production staff includes Roberta Valeau, assistant director; Richard Buck, stage manager; Dorothy Barbou, costume designer; Starlene Hawley, house management; and Elinor Eakin and Genevieve Smith, front desk.

J. Roy Schwartz, faculty advisor for the Dramatic Club, is in charge.

The play will be given in the intimate theater, which is designed to seat 44, and the audience is treated on four sides of the stage.

"Dulcy" is a comedy in these acts, an outgrowth of Franklin K. Adams' newspaper column, "The Condemned," and is the subject of a piece of music which is to be held Saturday evening. The preliminaries begin Thursday afternoon.

The debaters are expected to return either Saturday night or Sunday morning depending on the outcome of their team. Their opponents are competing from colleges in Oregon, Washington, and Idaho and will debate.

Math class has lesson in music

Dr. Elise J. McFarland gave her embryology class a vacation a few days before mid-term exams when she spent one whole hour showing them the correlation between music and mathematics.

She drew graphs of the sound waves made by striking a tuning fork and sustaining the vibration and proved that the curves recorded by these vibrations were similar to those graphically plotted for the sine and cosine of ordinary angles.

The doctor explained to the class that she would not hold them responsible for this material but would give them the class which are to be held Saturday of the course from which the lesson came and cosine.

Attention, Fresmen!

At a meeting of the freshman class this week, it was decided to assess each freshman 10 cents to help pay for the dance which will be given February 7,

FUN, ENTERTAINMENT

Duly will provide fun, entertainment. It may not be news when a husband knows his wife but when a turn, brings about it to her friends—That's a different story, even a school story, all too. Who? None other than Betty Mathews, femininity personified.

And her lucky partner is Eugene
Perkins as Gordon, her husband.

Betty could hardly wait to tell the girls that he had at last arrived and that's what most you'll see it happen again at the next Duly, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

If you are a little curious, then let's have a look at our friend, Inez Minnally, as she sees and hears about it

What abashed the girls of Duley as they enter her house and find ex-convict Zip Hawley on the porch calling them with a flush of the butler. "Do you suppose everyone is going to be in this house?," they whisper among themselves. But Duley only smiles—she knows the response. It was formed.
But is it? Better come and see for yourselves.

Duly's Mathew's fame

Jacoby has scheduled quite a few practice games with town teams, most of which are scheduled to be played at the gymnasium. Some of the boys are already throwing the ball around and getting into some game action.

Next week the A.A.U. tournament will be the major honor of the tournament to represent Idaho in the national finals in Denver.楼层将进行比赛，获胜者将代表学校参赛。

Good support along with good sportsmanship will go a long way in helping our team come through with flying colors.在比赛中我们应该保持良好的体育道德，以帮助我们取得胜利。

In the event that we have to play some games in Nampa, try and arrange to be there if possible.如果需要在Nampa比赛，请尝试安排参加。

Many of the boys are wondering if there is going to be baseball at Junior College this year. Uncle Dale sincerely hopes there will be because he has heard of a lot of good baseball played at the school. Some of the material I have noticed in print: Pitche rs: Bert Gregory, Carl Day, and Ronnie Bedworth; infielders: Dick Armstrong, Bob Curtis, Bill Stevens, Roy Arnold, Harry O'Neil and Merrill Barnett; catchers: Bob Simmons and Marilyn Tucker; outfielders: Rod Brown, Darrell Parente, and Carl Hill. There are several other boys from the same town that Uncle Dale has been unable to interview.还有很多其他球员未被采访，但Uncle Dale希望能够采访到他们。

Let's all be on deck for the A.A.U. tournament next week. Now until next week, without fail, I remain yours,

New Gym Rapidly Nears Completion; Floor Is Laid

Rapidly coming into realization is the dream of Coach Harry Jacoby to have all of our new gym for B. J. C.今年B. J. C.的新生体育馆即将建成。

A recent visit to the structure now being built on the campus showed that the floor has been laid; the baskets, complete with new type small back boards, are set for erection, and the ceiling is studded with rows of powerful lights ready to illuminate the court for some fast action Broncs basketball.这座体育馆的地板已经铺设完毕，篮筐已经安装，天花板也已经准备好进行装修，为快节奏的Broncs篮球比赛提供照明。

Shower rooms, one at each end of the building, are complete.淋浴室已全部完成，每端各有一个。

With finishing touches expected to be done within the next month, the gym may see some action before the end of June.在接下来的一个月内，体育馆可能会有进一步的使用。

"Will be a different old college round here when we get into that new gym." That's the way Coach Jacoby expressed his feelings.

POTATOES, Idaho, Feb. 14.—Regis senior and a second semester showed a drop of over a hundred students from the fall semester, since registration to date totals 873, as compared to 984 for the first semester of the last year, for Idaho Southern, as well as most other universities, showed a considerable drop.大学生人数减少，此为今年的一大特点。

Several reasons for such a general drop in student population have been advanced, and are quite accurate, since the trend is noted in colleges throughout the United States.原因包括，但不仅限于，学生人数的减少在全美国的大学中普遍存在。

The increased demand for laborers and the broken by the selective service are two of the major reasons for such a drop, it is be- believed.劳动和高等教育服务短缺是主要原因。

ZOOLOGY TEACHER HAS LED INTERESTING LIFE

Mr. Dave Arvey, the head of the B.J.C. Zoology Department, was born in Los Angeles, California, on December 6, 1915, and it was in the Los Angeles schools that he received his elementary training. When he had graduated from high school it was his intention to become a bacteriologist. When he discovered that it would take several years' preperation to start bacteriology, he attended for one and one-half years, at the end of which time he went to Chicago, to only return to finish his schooling at Berkeley, California.

Here Mr. Arvey digested into an interesting Avian Zoologist, in which he still stands thus. It seems that when he first started at U. C. he was a little green. He came in and said, "I am very proud of this picture as it makes me look much younger and slimmer. When you get to be my age you will appreciate such small favors." But his picture is a little grim. He is an interesting fellow, and he certainly is a very mernorable fellow.

The members of the choir say that the entire choir is a concert, and the men of the choir say that he is going to become a ball. Nobody has heard of him. But he has been seen. Nobody saw who the heck Pete is. But the choir had a picture taken of him, and there he was sporting in the choir.

Burs and Grade School Paured for First Time

Two alumni of B.J.C., Warren Hartman and Bert Varian, who have been separated for the first time since their initial appearance in grade school, are now at opposite ends of the Pacific ocean.

Mr. Hartman has made his home in California's famed Hollywood, while Mr. Varian is completing his air service training at Seattle, Washington.

Both of the boys attended B.J.C. last year. Mr. Varian en- tered the school last year and graduated out after the completion of the fall term after receiving his call from the Seattle training base.

Boys Show Themselves To Be Portrait Artists

Bob Simmons' and Jim Shaw's names have been added to Dr. Haines' roll of famous student artists. Dr. Haines claims credit for producing the brains behind the pictures of the doctor in the poli- ti cal science class, and Simmons, although a bit bashful about the whole thing, admits that it was his hand that actually produced the masterpiece.

Dr. Haines asked the boys for the picture, and said that he would add it to his collection. He said that he has "several" more.

While commenting on the drawings, Dr. Haines said, "I am very proud of this picture as it makes me look much younger and slimmer. When you get to be my age you will appreciate such small favors.

Cheating Can Be Detected Say B.J.C. Instructors

"That honestly is the best policy believed by most B.J.C. stu- dents. There are, however, a few who prefer to skim through by their classmates and such notes as they can sneak into class. These students more than likely think they are getting away with something, but, since every- one knows they are cheating, why do they think the instructor is blind?"

Each teacher has his or her idea about cheating and how to control it. However, most of them agree that cheats are in a minority group which grows smaller as the students go up in grade.

Dr. Prisco Haines,Dean of Men, handles cheating by staying in the hus- band of the students most likely to cheat, and if he catches one he destroys the paper and gives the violator an "F." Robert Latimore, forestry teach- er, believes in leaving the students to themselves, and that if they want to cheat they are only hurt- ing themselves. He says that only hard work will benefit a student in the long run, and that grades mean nothing.
