Boiseans Enjoy Dramatic Play

"Dulcy" was a great show, say those who saw it. The penthouse style in which the play was presented went over with the audience. It threw an entirely different light on the play and gave everyone feeling that they were sitting in a room watching not a show, but a conversation into which they might enter at any chosen moment.

Much credit is due Mr. Schwartz, director of the play, for the effort he put forth on it, and also for the many additions he made to the play in general.

"The Orphan of Vienna", a two-hour feature picture recently shown by the language department of the Boise Junior College resulted in many favorable comments from the audience of over 100 persons who attended.

The show had a well-developed plot of how an orphan boy in Vienna, whose parents finally was a place in the famous boy's choir of Vienna. One of the interesting features of the picture to many of the people that attended was that this same choir had given a performance to university a few years ago and had been attended by many of those present. At that time it was considered the hit of the season of musical concerts given, and the musical numbers with the picture were of the same high standard.

In adition to the excellent quality of the picture as a feature show, scenes from the locations used by the movie company in making the audience a real picture of life in a large European city as well as life in the Tyrol Alps.

Coast College Entices Co-eds Of B. J. C.

Sun bathing, swimming, modern dance, and shaded paths, beautiful buildings, tropical trees and flowers were only a few of the enticing ideas formed in the minds of the Associated Women students, Tuesday, when Mrs. Hillary Jones, field representative for M.I.T. College, showed slides of the beautiful campus of this Oakland, Calif., college.

Mrs. Jones described each slide as a spoken of the academic and social life at the college.

About 600 girls live on the 150-acre campus, which has school dormitories, stores, a Student Union Building, and many other conveniences which make it a little village all its own. Mrs. Jones said that 20 states and 11 foreign countries are represented at the college. The 600 students are tutored by a faculty of 100 persons, which provides an average class with six students.

To the Editor of the Roundup:

We were not given anything resembling a fair opportunity to share in the education that we are getting in our classes every day.

Boise College Is Frontier to Youth

We often hear of frontiers that must be developed, and the common conception is the pioneer traveling the many dusty miles across the plains of the western United States. It is as if we should believe that whenever there are many different kinds of frontiers that have been and are still being developed.

In the day by day life of the average student he does not stop to think that Boise Junior College is a way in which a pioneer overcomes many obstacles to bring higher education to a校区, and we see the mental work of this hearty pioneer in the education of our students. They are learning about music, stunts, and dramatics.

Voice Recordings Made

Mr. Dwight E. Harris has been making voice recordings such as those that have been recorded in Estonia and China. He has been recording many of these Blackmon's speech classes have taken as a hobby. Some of these recordings have been scheduled to start at 9 p.m., so let's go to the game at Nanpa first.

Volleyball

Baseball will not be a regular activity this year unless some way can be found to raise money to support our team. We have not placed our faith in a possible way of rayon sunshine on our bodies. In fact, Bert Gregory, last year's pitcher, is going to cast his lot with the Sweethearts this year. Bert has a very impressive record. In one game during a tournament, he struck out 19 men in 10 feet, but I ran two blocks before I knew about it. I felt like crawling under the Schwartz, and I thought I'd be the opportunity for them to be over at the Nampa Victory. We will be playing the Fighting Blackcats once, and I suddenly discovered a whole office force composed of the boys. This ticket will also admit you the Opposites, the Broncs on to the street and started to speak. I felt like crawling under the Schwartz, and I thought you'd better not.

College Students Have Voice Recordings Made

You would never realize the number of good voices there are in Boise in Boise College. It is so true that as though everyone in school has been making voice recordings to let just how their voices sound.

- Dean

All of the students in Dr. J. Blackburn's speech class have made recordings and have been playing them back to me. I have found that the tone of their voices can be improved in a remarkable way by improving your speech. For one class period they listen to their voices, and if they can get together, it looks like we might stand a chance. Any way, Broncs, let's get behind the game, and if they can get together, it looks like we might stand a chance.

- Dean

Many of the Broncs have taken to spring riding. Just before the tourney started, I had a blind date with the boys at my home. It seems that his face is the only thing that seems to be a problem for me. He only chased me about 50 yards, but I ran two blocks before I knew about it. I felt like crawling under the Schwartz, and I thought you'd better not.

Y. A. Boys Enjoy Meal They Prepared

You may talk about the "guy's" minestrel and their bountiful choice of food, but even the "guy's" minestrel must make no impression on this upon the result, since he will be able to tell you that there are a great many National Youth Administration Wives' Auxiliary

* Co-eds Have Variety of Shoe Sizes, Widths

"You can always tell a lady by the shoe she wears," would now mean a proverb if you look over your reporter's exit poll map during Monday afternoon at the ball. One adjective which may be seen is that of a B. J. C. co-eds' shoes.

First to fail victim to be the cutie-eyed God, who meditated, pronounced, and was expelled with a deprecating smile. That's bad, but I think you'd better not.

The tournament pairings gave the Broncos one of the toughest teams in the tourney for the Northwest Nazarenes and considered co-favorites with the College of Idaho.

The Nazarenes have won three out of the four regular season games. The Boise team finally managed to salvage the last game of the series. In a pre-season game during the holiday tournament the Broncos came out a six-point winner.

The Boise club has had some rigid runnings in the past two weeks, and their coach promised them ready to go.

Breezes Beat Coyotes 46 to 31 Count

Entering their first game as the under-rated team, Coach Harry \( \text{Gray} \) Orange-clad boys from Boise Junior College thoroughly toughened the College of Idaho Coyotes by a score of 46 to 31.

The touting Broncos took the first count after four minutes of play and were never passed throughout the game.

Darrall Parente, Junior College's chubby little guard, rode off with scoring honors for the evening with 22 counters, followed by Big Hort Story, B. J. C.'s star center, with 15 points.

The College of Idaho was led by Elden Dietrich, stocky guard, who held Caldwell's hopes with his long one-handed shot.

Until late in the game when again the Broncos turned on their power at full force, they gradually pulled away from the Coyotes, and as the final whistle blew, they found themselves his the winner of the first night's game, and all ready to take on the Nampa Nazarenes at Nampa tonight.

Jack Dana and Johnny Gray lived up to their rough tactics and left the game via the foul route after playing a bang-up game at their guard positions. Although they weren't the potent centers that the game, both Jack and Johnny held their men to low scores and did their share of ball hawking.

Tommy Collins played the backboard with big Hort and also did his share of scoring.

The first game proved that the Broncos not only are going to be a threat in the Amateur Athletic Union tourney, but a strong one.

The line-up was:

- B. J. C. (46)
- C. of I (31)
- Parente 22
- B. J. C., Cocktail 1
- Callin 1
- Milbro felt 1

Good Weather Forecast
By Mysterious Student

A mysterious, captive, masaudine figure strolls quickly along the sidewalk facing the north classroom windows of B. J. C. last Tuesday afternoon as the sun casts warm, lazy rays about the enticing green pre-spring terra ce.

What made this figure appear strange and mysterious was that he was draped in two coats, one draped about his body and the other fitting snugly over his head efficiently concealing his identity.

The student, identity unknown, was at all appearances attempting to pass some classroom at which he was supposed to be in attendance without being seen by his instructor.

Hey, cooky! Has anyone seen cooky? In case you didn't know before, cooky is platinum-haired Calvin Geisler, the only male cook-student of B. J. C. His prime ambition is to be a chef, and amid is a sea of feminine attraction and savory odors of cooking food, he carries on his daily experiments in the culinary art.

Calvin thinks the home economics equipment, instructor, and B. J. C. are all swell. His specialty is to make cakes, but cookies run a close second.

Idahoans Leave Fingerprints

MOSCOW, Idaho—One-third of the students who registered left their fingerprints with members of Alpha Pi Omega, soror honor society, who were stationed in the women's gymnasium on Monday and Tuesday, according to Harold Breckin, chairman. He announced that approximately 750 imprints were made.

Two eight-man crews were in the registration line at different times during the two days. Three men took information, one filled out cards which were returned to the students, three took fingerprints, and one sorted cards after the prints were taken.—Idaho Argonaut.

Boise Ad Club Hears Program From Students

Inside news of the organization and publication of the Boise Junior College ROUNDUP and LES BOIS, and the Boise high school HIGH LIGHTS, and COURIER, was revealed to the Boise Advertising Club of Boise Monday by members of these publications.

When the Boise Junior Ad Club met with the senior club for lunch and a joint meeting at the Hotel Boise Lounge.

The program consisted of student speakers from these two schools. Miriam Curtis, editor of the ROUNDUP; Alvin Roberts, advertising manager of the ROUNDUP; and Dee Anderson, editor of the LES BOIS, represented B.J.C.; and Helen Howard, president of the Junior Ad Club and editor of the HIGH LIGHTS; Rose Leisinger, managing editor of the HIGH LIGHTS; Roy Weinstein, advertising manager of the HIGH LIGHTS; and Gloria Williams, editor of the COURIER, represented Boise high school.

These students discussed their connection with these school publications.

Colonel Norman Admin, president of the Senior Ad Club, presided during the meeting.

Pep-Band to Go to Conference With Choir

Also trying to do their best to advertise B.J.C. is our pep-band. They are now making plans to accompany the choir to the Northwest Music Conference in Spokane the last of next month.

The band has only to raise about $40 and they plan to do this by giving a dance the 28th of April. They will furnish their own music and the dance will be held in the Elk's ballroom, members said.

Boise Ad Club Meets

Boise Ad Club will represent Boise at the Conference of Ad Clubs in Portland next month.

Due to the great success of the recent choir concert the students now have no financial burdens and have made well over $500. They have also made a splendid showing in fund raising.

The conference will be held in the last of May in Spokane. Business managers and high schools from the Northwest will be represented there.

Lectures are now being set up for various schools here to secure appointments for performances. In this way they hope to propagate knowledge of Boise Junior College and to further our relations with other colleges in this district.
