Civilian Pilot Training Aids Many Boiseans

The civilian pilot's training program sponsored by the Boise Junior College and carried on at the Municipal airport by Webb's Flying Service, has shown real results. According to Miss Margaret Pinto, assistant operations manager of the flying service, a total of 75 students have completed the primary flying course of 60 hours, and 48 have completed the advanced course of an additional 40 hours. On a basis of average cruising speeds of 75 m.p.h. for the training ships, and 150 m.p.h. for the advanced types, the students have flown a distance in excess of 450,000 miles, or a distance greater than 18 times around the world at the equator.

No Accidents

In this entire program, no accidents have occurred that have resulted in any injury to a single student or instructor and flying except very minor injury to any of the equipment used. This is an outstanding record for both the flying personnel consisting of students and instructors and the equipment furnished by the Webb Flying Service.

Many of the students who have completed the courses offered have planned to continue their aviation and are rapidly making names for themselves in aviation. Among those who have continued their programs are the following:

Posee Graduating

John Posee has completed the U. S. Army course at Randolph Field and will graduate from the Army advanced school at Brooks Field today, resulting in a commission as First Lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. Jim Jenkins is completing the course and will graduate from Pensacola and will shortly be a full fledged pilot for the United States Marine Corps; Rayed Griffin is completing his work at Pensacola, and will become a commissioned officer of the United States Navy.

Herschberger is at Randolph Field, completing his work at Pensacola, and will return to the advanced school at Brooks Field and a commission in the Army Corps. Bertart Vranick

Junior College To Offer Botany Course

"A new botany course, local flora or botany 25, will be offered for the spring term," said Dr. R. Maurice Myers.

"The common plants," he continued, "especially wild flowers and shrubs of southwestern Idaho, will be studied and identified, the use of botanical keys and methods of collection and preserving of botanical specimens will be emphasized.

"Classes will meet on Friday afternoons and field trips will be held frequently during the week." The course is open to students having no previous botanical training.

Reception Given By College Faculty

Faculty members of B. J. C. "re-ceived" at a reception for the Boise Junior College, the Carnegie and State Traveling librarians last Sunday in the college library.

The library was furnished with the furniture from the offices and girls' lounge. The combination of the lovely furniture and the landscape paintings from the art department gave the library the appearance of an expansive drawing room.

Junior College Add New Courses To Curriculum

Several new courses have been added to the curriculum of Boise Junior College. Mrs. Mary Henschel said this week. These courses will be offered to students for the spring quarter.

Mr. Dale M. Arvey will conduct a class in eugenics, which is a continuation of genetics. The principles of advertising, principles of merchandising and business mathematics are three new courses which Mr. Merrill Nash will teach. Advertising will also be studied by the journalism class, and Mr. William Colby will teach the psychology of advertising to the psychology students this term.

Topographical surveying will be studied by second year engineering students. An instructor for this course has not yet been chosen.

Mr. William Eister, a new teacher in B. J. C., will teach ceramics this quarter. This is a new subject to college and also to Boise Junior College.

B. J. C. Leaves Leave for National A.A.U. Meet

Jacoby, Latimore Will Accompany

If you notice a certain quietness about the halls of B. J. C. today, don't be alarmed. The quietness comes from the fact that the Junior College basketball team left yesterday afternoon, bound for Denver to participate in the National A.A.U. finals there.

The team composed of nine players and a manager, and accompanied by Coach Harry Jacoby, were to have stayed overnight at Sota Byles, where they were to hold a practice session this morning.

Traveling in two cars, they planned to reach Denver Saturday afternoon. The cars were furnished by Irvin Talley, team manager, and Bob Latimore, forestry instructor, who also made the trip.

The tournament begins on Sunday.

Painting Adds Beauty to Library

Students, upon entering the school library last Monday, were greeted with a pleasant surprise when they found the room wrapped in an aura of pictorial charm by Conan Mathews, B. J. C. instructor, who also made the trip.

The pictures added a definite touch to the room and erase the previous sensation of bareness experienced.

Several beautiful pictures painted by Conan Mathews, B. J. C. art instructor, were hung on the walls especially for the tea given by faculty members and a manager, and accompanied by Conan Mathews, B. J. C. instructor, who also made the trip.

The tournament begins on Sunday.

Spring Does Not Hamper Grades

Spring and all its fascinating incidents may be very near at hand, but still a few B. J. C. students have the privilege of receiving an A and B grades at receiving a few A and B grades in their mid-term reports, according to Mrs. Mary T. Hershay, registrar.

The following students made grades of A in at least 14 hours of work. Some have received A grades in 18 hours of work. Allan McClary, Lois Mainati, David Perry, Erle Boys, David Pease, and Robert Mitchell made high grades.

Marcia Bigler, Ruth Smith, Merle Stover, Annette Stover, Elizabeth Walker, and Carroll Wilson made grade of straight A's. The library and the library for their lovely coloring seemed to brighten the room and erase the previous sensation of bareness experienced.

Another lovely touch to the room was pussy-willows placed with excellent taste.

Several students were heard to comment favorably on the new pictures and pussy-willows. Everybody expressed the sentiment that the library seemed to have a new warmth, a new glow, that abetted the desire to study.

Language Professors Tomorrow

de Neufville, Powers, Schwartz Will Direct

Begin with two impostors renting a house which doesn't belong to them, add the pranksters of the best prankster in Germany on three blind men, finish it off with a modern Bronco who sticks his feet in a dash of rice pudding and two hours of glimpses of the entertainment high. B. J. C. is furnished with the foreign language programs of B. J. C. are presented in -3:16 p. m. tomorrow night at the D. E. Ball, 316 Main.

The Spanish play, "Deinity Fudge", is a comedy which mixes blind love with secret rendezvous on a balcony. Carl Burnham, Jim Thomas, Maryanne Kennedy, Donna Wertheimer, John Templeton, and Holger Albrethsen are the Spanish students taking part.

"For Rent Furnished" portrays two crooks, who, while blandly renting a house, are caught burglarizing. Controversies arise when the real owner appears and wonders why strange people are in his house. French students acting are David Olibe, R. T. Smith, Chris Alexander, Marjorie Ann Brummer, and Jack Louderback.

Minority Thinkers Should Have Freedom

By Samuel Johnson wrote in his famous Dictionary, that "patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel." This may not be true anymore, but when a period of stress and crisis comes and the country is suddenly overrun with flags and posters espousing the cause of patriotism and love of one's country, the shallowness of our patriotism is exposed.

When our democracy was set up, the theory of free speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of assembly were carried on with our country. But when there were pressures put on the President or the congress to adhere to, or go along with the many fads of the country. The rights guaranteed to the people of this nation. Yes, it is the time to be patriotic, but in our patriotic fervor let us not forget that the majority plans. Do not condemn a man because he disagrees with his country. In the case of national emergency, when the President or the congress has acted in the interest of the nation, if one disagrees, he should be willing to allow those who are willing to take the opposite side.

Minority of people have a feeling of patriotism. Flap the flag in the face of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and the Roundup printed it. "Build T-e-r-e-a More Strong and Able." So we have decided to make the best of matters and reconsider the title for a song for the B.C. building program.

Studie Express Opinions of Advisory Plan

B.C. students express their opinions of the advisory plan which has been initiated into the college by the administration. Annette Stewart—Miss Berkeley Ford, Mr. Mitchell, and Miss Bella Whittaker were asked for their opinion of this plan because it will be a great help to students in planning their future. The plan will result in saving time and effort.

Doctor Gets Set-back From Hotel Servant

While on the recent debate trip to McMinville, Oregon, the preside

of Dr. C. D. Myers, coach, suffered a heart attack. He was taken to the hospital early hours of the morning he was able to recapture two of his erring brood of descendants from the saucepan. While studying in the dark down the dimly lighted hall he was swallowed up in a manhole. This was when he was supposed to be the doctor to the chambermaid. Then the crowd came. In times unmitting our work, the chambermaid demands in harsh tone, "What room are you looking for, sonny?"

Dr. Myers has been down on the monotonous operations of chambermaids ever since.

BOISE JUNIOR COLLEGE POTTERY CLASSES BUSY

Robert Meffan, 21, formerly a student of Boise high school and Boise Junior College, accomplished something new in parachute jumping by taking pictures of himself as he hurtled through space before pulling the rip cord.

Aviotion enthusiasts, who were congregrated at a Los Angeles field, expressed the opinion that it was the first time such a thing had been done.

A small camera was strapped to Meffan’s leg as he stepped from a monoplane 2000 feet above Los Angeles Municipal Airport. Until the parachute paralyzed behind him and he was able to take control, the movie camera gound out the details of the fall. Floting more quietly, Meffan directed the camera the remainder of the trip. He took shots all the way, including a bumpy landing.

Meffan is a graduate of the night class of the American School of Aircraft Instruments, Glendale, California, and is employed as an instrument technician in the North American aviation plant, making war planes.

He is the son of United States Marshall George Meffan, who was killed by a negro renegade near Coonan’s Cabin last summer. His mother, Mrs. Edna Meffan, is living apart.

BOISE JUNIOR COLLEGE Pottery Classes Busy

Boise Junior College and the Idaho Agricultural Administration are cooperating in sponsoring a project to develop the commercial possibilities of pottery. Said Mr. Conan Mathews, B. J. C. art professor, that there are several valuable bodies of clay in the state with commercial possibilities, but very little has been done with them.

The Junior College is furnishing a place to work with the background of the art department. The N. Y. A. is furnishing youth workers, materials, and a supervisor, Miss Margaret Brennan, formerly of the La Folita Studios in San Diego.

A tile factory has been set up in the middle hangar of the airport, and an order has been received for 25,000 tiles. Experiments in developing the clay into a good workable medium has started and much progress has been made by the N. Y. A. girls, said Miss Brennan.

These tiles will be used for floor¬ing the dining room of the Western Vocational School. Miss Brennan and the girls are designing tableware and ceramic experimenting in the art department.

Picture tile depicting the State of Idaho and the state coat of arms will be designed for the vocational school. These tiles will be placed as border around the top of the tile previously mentioned.

This is the first time a project of this type has been attempted anywhere. These tiles portray the industries, animal life, geography, outstanding events and history of Idaho. They were designed by Idaho artists, they will be on Idaho clay and the work will be done by Idaho women—Miss Brennan, the originator of the idea.

These courses are open to any college student. Several college students are putting in their junior year at the N. Y. A. and getting six credits, and sometimes two credits a week, depending upon which courses they are taking. Miss Mathews, B. J. C. art professor, is teaching sculpture, and Miss Brennan, N. Y. A. instructor, is teaching pottery.

Owing to the popularity of the courses, B. J. C. is sponsoring evening classes for adults on Tuesday and Thursday nights. The attendance has been very good. Miss Brennan said that an invitation is extended to anyone interested to enter the classes or to visit them. The N. Y. A. workers have completed a replica of the official seal of the college. Great interest has been shown in this project. The replica is to be placed in Mr. Charlton’s office and plans are now under way to make one for the library.

Miss Brennan said that any Junior College student wishing to take any of these courses should see Mr. Mathews or herself for arrangements since the class is still open.

Parente Is High Scorer For Bronco Cage Team

Darrel Parente walked off with high scoring honors for the second successive year of Junior College play. Parente’s field goals and tossed in 44 gross points which gave him a total of 270 points for the season.

The flashy little forward, who was the top scorer in almost every game, has been the leading scorer in high school and college basketball for the past four years. Parente’s average during the season was 11.3 points per game.

Harold Story took second high scoring honors with 40 points. He led the pack in free throws having tossed in 45 points. Tommy Collins took third place in the scoring with 130 points.

Although the Broncos did not win many of their games they managed to outscoor their opponents. The B. J. C. career scored 964 points in 34 games while their opponents scored only 937 points.

Parents turned out to be the roughtest men on the 150-pound team. He made 59 personal fouls to lead his teammates in this department. He was closely followed by Jack Daniels who was assessed for 48 fouls. In third was John Collins who fouled 47 times.

Long Assignments
Will Go Astray;
Students Have Hobbies

The instructors of the Boise Junior College need not worry about long assignments and too much home work for the students as a recent survey shows that most of the student body are interested in and have hobbies. Of course they do study but in the few minutes each day left over that they help themselves they find time for their outside activities, many of these being the pursuit of hobbies.

There seem to be as many different types of hobbies among the students as there are students and they range from the more common ones of stamp collecting, photography, wood working and coin collecting to those of a more abstract nature. Among these latter are found students who get considerable enjoyment out of foreign correspondence, reading biographies and partaking of many different sport and athletic activities.

The survey conducted shows that as the students grow older, many change their hobbies. One example may be quoted from the questionnaire which was sent out a while ago to students who have hobbies. It showed that the students' response to hobbies is that as the students grow older, they range from the more common ones of stamp collecting, photography, wood working and coin collecting to those of a more abstract nature. Among these latter are students who get considerable enjoyment out of foreign correspondence, reading biographies and partaking of many different sport and athletic activities.

Tell Duke Starles Drive-In Patrons

Patrons of a popular Boise drive-in were startled into sobbing laughter when a certain H. C. student stepped from his car hand somely attired in a dress, complete to hat and all.

The lad—or lassie—was none other than Bob Packham, our school’s energetic welder-head, who just came from the Artiste Maximopereau Ball.

The snug-fitting lines of the dress did ample justice to Bob’s ample figure, and on a questionnaire we find “writing requests for Tale of the Vanishing Tower” by Britton, who played on all the different sym phonic or orchestral programs on radio.”

Civilian Pilots Are Training

is taking his first instruction with the navy at Bandpoint, Idaho, and will soon leave for Pensacola to follow Bayard Griffin into the navy as a pilot and officer.

Dorothy in Canada

In addition to Boeing serving with and preparing for service with the armed forces of the United States Harry Doherty, a B. J. C. student, last year, has enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force and is now stationed at Regina, Saskatchewan, where he is a student of the Royal Canadian Air Force flight officers’ school and will soon become an instructor in that organization that is so rapidly becoming famous overseas in the present war.

Three of the students, Bill Skin hard, Ted McCutcheon, and Merle Armstrong, have taken their aviation instructor’s tests and have secured that rating. Under this rating they will instruct five C. P. T. students in primary work under the supervision of a regular C. P. T. instructor, after which they will become eligible for regular instructors’ ratings and a good future in civilian aviation.

Use Cub Planes

The students are first started on their course of primary instruction and use Piper Cub planes of 65 h. p. After they have completed their 40 hours of this type of ship, they start the advanced course in higher powered and more maneuverable ships, of which the Webb Flying Service have three, a Waco UPP-7 of 220 h. p., a Ryan STA of 125 h. p. and a Waco KNF of 125 h. p.

The excellent record of the school can be credited to the use of first-class equipment, the high standard of the students, and, more than anything else, to the competence of the instructors. Ray Crowder, a Boise pilot of many years’ experience, is chief pilot and he is ably assisted by Jack Mc Conaugh, Val Bernocchi, and Malcolm Parsons, who handle the advanced or secondary work, and Craig Coleman and Loyd Crenwel, take care of the primary instruction.

At the present time, in spite of the excellent results of the school, there are still several vacancies in both the primary and advanced courses now starting and it appears that some students of B. J. C. are eligible for this training and who are not taking advantage of it, are passing up a wonderful opportunity.

Completion of these courses by students certainly is of value to the individual, a help to B. J. C. and a service to the United States in this greatest preparedness program of all time.
