

Boise State University

ScholarWorks

The Idea of Nature Public Lecture Series

Interdisciplinary Explorations

2-23-2023

Slow Plants on a Burning Planet (Flyer)

Jared Farmer

University of Pennsylvania

—

Interdisciplinary
Explorations
The Idea of Nature
PUBLIC LECTURE SERIES

Thursday, Feb. 23, 2023 ~ 6 PM MST

- All Spring 2023 lectures will be via Zoom webinar ONLY
- They are free, open to the public, and require registration to receive webinar link
- All webinar times are listed in Mountain Standard Time with Q & A sessions to follow
- To register for webinars, follow this link: <https://forms.gle/L7so5pkTNU8z6wG88>
- To be added to The Idea of Nature Public Lecture Series email list to be notified of future events, please email: ideaofnature@boisestate.edu

Slow Plants on a Burning Planet

Dr. Jared Farmer

Walter H. Annenberg Professor of History
University of Pennsylvania

Dr. Farmer is the Walter H. Annenberg Professor of History at the University of Pennsylvania. His temporal expertise is the long nineteenth century; his regional expertise is the American West. His recent work has turned to global environmental history across the modern period. Originally from Provo, Utah, Farmer earned his degrees from Utah State, the University of Montana, and Stanford. He has family roots in Bear Lake County, Idaho, and is a past and future resident writer at the Ernest and Mary Hemingway House in Ketchum. Prof. Farmer is the award-winning author of four books, most recently Elderflora: A Modern History of Ancient Trees. He's on Instagram and Twitter @geohumanist. Learn more at jaredfarmer.net.

BOISE STATE UNIVERSITY
COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
Department of English Literature

To Register for Webinar:
<https://forms.gle/L7so5pkTNU8z6wG88>