President’s Message—Rob Pangaro

TAking THE WORLD BY STORM

By Shelly Doty, Past-President

I asked Rob if I could commandeer his column for the last issue of the Keynoter this year and he was gracious enough to agree.

I wanted to take this opportunity to thank Rob Pangaro for everything he has done these past couple of years, first as president elect, then as president.

As president elect last year, Rob developed a Professional Development Day for the Association of Office Professionals that has continued to set the standard for the service and training our organization provides.

As president this year Rob has continued in that same vein, working with colleagues in the organization in a professional, responsive, and advisory manner. Rob has encouraged us and let us all develop leadership skills within our positions on the board and inspired us all to be better, to learn, to engage.
A professional organization for persons employed at Boise State University in educational office support positions

PURPOSE

The purpose of this Association shall be to elevate the standards and promote professional growth of the office personnel (or those aspiring to be) within the University and to provide for a finer understanding of the relationship between the University and the community in order to promote positive attitudes and to encourage further training in specific skills relevant to each member’s job responsibilities.

CODE OF ETHICS

As educational office professionals, we affirm our belief that an education is the birthright of every person and pledge ourselves to the preservation of that right. We recognize the special province of the professional educator and the significance of the responsibilities assumed by the educator. We also recognize the unique role of the educational office professional and the importance of the contributions made.

BSUAOP has its own email: AOP@boisestate.edu
I look forward to Rob’s involvement as Immediate Past President this coming 2018/2019 year. I look forward to his guiding our path forward with new leadership, new and continuing members and new and continuing connections.

Please join us at the upcoming Professional Development Day on April 6th. Take a moment to thank Rob for his commitment to our organization and to welcome Ramona Martin in as president for the upcoming year.

I know that with Rob’s guidance Ramona, and the new board, will continue to take our organization to higher levels and provide our members with reasons to be involved.

Kaizen Mindset Raising Student Satisfaction
By Ellie Pierce
AOP Board, Membership Representative

Don’t kid yourself; customer satisfaction is a thing in higher education. Staff and faculty who embrace the Kaizen principle of continuous improvement distinguish highly performing colleges and universities, and lead to improved student retention. Want to see it in action? You need only look out of your own office window. Here at Boise State University many of us have been working hard with College of Business and Economics’ Dr. Tom Gattiker’s Process Improvement Initiative team to find ways to reduce waste, and improve efficiency. A component of this training is Kaizen, the process of continuous improvement.

As a recent participant in a Lean training with Dr. Gattiker’s team, I was reminded of the Kaizen continuous improvement process. Thinking about the four stages, I thought I would share an instance where with minimal effort I could achieve greater teamwork creating a more satisfying student experience. Here is my example of continuous improvement mindset, seeking to improve student satisfaction. Please keep in mind, I’m an advisor, so this example is drawn from my daily tasks.

- Identify. Students want to enroll as soon as their enrollment appointment opens. Sometimes they have holds which prevent this. They are obliged in their first semester, to meet with me to lift the required advising hold. I frequently receive emails from frustrated students who don’t understand the difference between the various holds. They do receive email notification for each of the holds, but new students don’t automatically grasp who is emailing, nor what is required. I know of at least three university offices placing enrollment holds. What if we explained holds from a more student-centric position?

- Plan. I’m in a good position to educate them on many of those holds. If I anticipate some who may not realize they have multiple holds, student frustration and enrollment delay could be reduced. What if I could improve this by simply accepting responsible for helping every advisee to understand the process, instead of staying inside my zone of direct responsibility only removing the advising hold?

FOCUS ON MEMBERS
SHANNON EDDINS

Hello! I am Shannon Eddins, Administrative Assistant II for the Respiratory Care Department. I have been an AOP member since 2016. I began my career here at Boise State University in the School of Social Work back in December of 2015. I was hired to work in the MSW Online program which has grown tremendously in the last two years. This past month I decided that it was time to try something new, so I accepted a position in the Respiratory Care program supporting the undergraduate program. I am excited to work with on campus students and learn the ins and outs of on campus programs.

I graduated with my AAS in Medical Assisting back in 1995 and was a certified medical assistant for about 9 years. In 2003 I took a position at Idaho National Laboratory and that was the beginning of a new career. I moved up quickly in the admin world as I discovered I had the right talents to be a great administrative assistant. I spent 13 years at INL, both growing my career and raising my children. After my youngest daughter graduated, I decided it was time for a change and moved to Boise in 2013.

I am an empty nester, with 2 daughters out on their own. My oldest graduated from Boise State in the Radiology program last year, and recently moved to Pennsylvania. She is expecting her first child, my first grandchild. I am so excited for that! My other daughter is in the Navy and currently stationed in Virginia.

I am currently taking classes and working toward my bachelor’s degree in Information Technology Management. That keeps me fairly busy along with my pug puppy, Charlie. I enjoy exploring new areas, traveling, and scrapbooking in my spare time. I am very proud to be a Boise State Bronco!

-Currently Shannon is a member of the Association of Office Professionals board and serves as a member representative. Shannon has been encouraging and active in planning all of our events and the Board of AOP has benefited from her knowledge and expertise!

With our biggest event coming up (Professional Development Day) it’s the perfect opportunity to renew and/or register for BSUAOP 18-19 membership at a discounted rate when you register for PDD, only $5.00!

BSUAOP membership provides professional growth and renewal for all office personnel. We sponsor the annual Professional Development Day; annual Holiday Auction and annual Bosses’ Breakfast, as well as in-service workshops and monthly meetings with speakers on timely topics.

I ask you to continue your support of BSUAOP and encourage your colleagues to join. Please feel free to contact me with any questions. I look forward to seeing you at PDD!

Boise State University 2018 Benefits Fair

Boise State University Association of Office Professionals will be at Boise State's Annual Benefits Fair between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., on Tuesday, May 1, 2018. Please stop by our table in the Simplot Ballroom (located on the second floor of the Student Union Building) to say hi and learn of the opportunities local, state and national AOP membership provides to its members.

University Health Services and Campus Recreation will also be providing massages and sharing information about their programs for faculty and staff. Transportation & Parking will be available, as well as ACHD Commuter Ride with information about alternative transportation. Representatives from Human Resources, Payroll, and several other on-campus groups will be available to provide information and answer any questions you may have about important Boise State employee resources.

Participating Boise State employees will be eligible for the prize drawings. The drawing will take place following the fair, and winners need not be present to win. Release time of one hour has been granted with supervisor approval. Light refreshments will be provided. Parking is available in the Lincoln Garage, next to the Student Union building.

• Execute. While I am sending out reminders to students who need to come to me for advising to lift their RAD hold, I’ll review all the holds on their account. My reminder emails will include instructions on how to review all holds, and how to access information about how to address the requirements of the most frequently encountered holds. This improves student satisfaction (assuming they read my email) by providing more information to make their second semester enrollment process less frustrating.

• Review. I keep records of RAD hold emails sent out and all advising meetings. I will ask in advising meetings whether or not the emails made it easier to understand the purpose of the various holds and how to address the issues each hold presents? Keeping count of those who felt the process helped, if 10% of those I emailed say they were helped to enroll more easily with less delay, I call these more satisfied students and I consider this evidence of continuous improvement.

• What do you think? Can you identify a Boise State University process in which you participate where you can plan, execute, and review a process impacting student satisfaction? Is there a pain-point for students with whom your regularly work? Where can you expand your definition of customer service to embrace improving student experience?

President Rob Pangaro and President Elect Ramona Martin will both be attending the National Association of Educational Office Professional’s (NAEOP) annual conference this year in July.

This year’s NAEOP conference will be July 16-20 in Minneapolis, Minnesota. This will be the first NAEOP conference for both of them, and they are excited to go! Both Ramona and Rob have signed up for workshops on improving office communications and increasing leadership skills. The information gained and contacts made from this gathering of office professionals from across the nation will be an invaluable asset, both individually and to colleagues here at Boise State and with our own AOP organization.
