Travelogue

This is the first in a series of discussions of parts of the world students may wish to visit in each paper, and any questions may be turned into the Roundup office.

Next summer's travel plans have already begun to appear in the minds of many BJCJ students. Many groups have called about Alaska or South America as places to see as well as to visit.

Since Alaska is a territory of the United States it has the same labor requirements and pay for employees, but getting a position is getting there first. The people are mostly whites who understand the English language. The people are mostly whites who understand the English language. The people are mostly whites who understand the English language.

In the more northern parts, the roads are bad and most inns are ruled. The land is very barren with little variety in the food available. In the southern parts, the roads are well maintained with the exception of Alaska. Highway are good and travel is easy.

Alaska boasts a fourteen college university of the University of Alaska at Fairbanks. Here we have a school that is the same as the others but in a different climate.

Student Union Closed

By BOB KOHLS

Thanks to the thoughtlessness of a few students during the last two party nights at the Union, the Union will fail to open on Friday nights in the future. It seems that there are some people who are not interested in just drinking in the Union and socializing, but have to have something a little bit stronger. The effects of this stimulant were seen last Friday night when a radio was stolen from the ticket booth at the game, and also at the Union when Walt missed a few items from behind the counter. Walt was well within his rights to close his doors to the students, especially since his reward for the sale he has done for our college comes in the form of assault and battery. I hope the student body of Boise Junior College will rise up in arms on this count, for if it happens again you might find the Union closed for good—AT ALL TIMES!

Now Hear This

By BOB KOHLS

There seems to be quite a bit of criticism about the article which appeared in the Here 'n There column in the last issue of this paper. As editor of this paper, and being on the side lines myself, I feel that I have an unbiased opinion in the matter and therefore have reason to be heard. The article in last week's paper should not have been published, so I hereby apologize to Mr. Berglund, so I am hereby asking both sides to therefor have reason to be heard. Question of the Week

By BOB KOHLS

Who is your favorite character of comic strips in the funny papers, and why?

Deborah Morgan: "Dagwood, because he makes me laugh.

Ruth Buxton: "Marmaduke, because the people who talk like Leo.

Marion Honse: "Dagwood; can live without him.

Bill Quong: "Date in Flash Gordon—aabe a.

Mary Zupan: "Blondie; she's just like my family.

Mickey Matthews: "Blondie and Dagwood, so many of their escapades remind me of my own house happiness.

Lois Stron: "Terry and the Pirates because he's so interesting and romantic.

Loree Errett: "Our Back Yard is just like my family and relatives when they get together.

Dick Call: "Alley Oop; he's my ideal intelligence.

Lou Strow: "I'll take Terry and the Pirates any day, where she can be some sharp looking woman with good looking legs and not wearing one of those long dresses.

Bill Hill: "They'll Do Every Time.

Leland Hatch: "Dagwood, the only funny cartoon in it.

Conclusion to Question of the Week: Are the American families becoming like the Hummel's? Heaven forbid!

Fashions

By BOB KOHLS

With the chilly weather and rain creeping into these fall days now, some popular things to note (and the warners) are coats. The style this year is the long swing back coat with a detachable hood. These really prove to be the warmest and finest quality of coats, lined with bright white lining have been seen this year. Finally, Elson has a light grey coat and the lining in the hood is a darker grey velveteen. Raincoats are getting a lot of attention this fall and fashion. Marion Honse has been seen wearing a dark wine-colored one those rainy days.

Another style in coats is the quilted one. Ann Ashford has a gown that really looks nice and warm. Anybody noticed bright running feet lately? It's all due to the colored shoes, especially colored ones raincoats have nothing on the shoes. You can now get elf both shoes and stockings to match.

Black seems to be pretty popular for either casual or duty wearing. Black school or dress shoes really look good with those darker shades of stockings. Black dresses are quite popular too, because they can be worn at any type of occasion.

Have you got some mistresses yet? These frosty days may freeze your feet. One of my pet things is to wear pantyhose to help insulate. I don't think it would be such a bad idea for we poor field hockey players to take notice of that. Leland Hatch: "Dagwood, the only funny cartoon in it.

The International Club will hold its next meeting Tuesday, November 15. Guest speaker for the evening will be the new student representative to all our school as Miss Marian Servitfeld. Miss Servitfeld will speak on a World Student Service Fund.

Miss Servitfeld is a graduate of the University of Washington, and has been a delegate to the YWCA's Women's Student Council, Teenage Club, Prominent, and the University choir. Miss Servitfeld has been on the faculty since 1925. She was a member of the YWCA, Women's Student Council, Student Conference Planning Company, a 1941 she was a delegate to the YWCA adolescent Congress in cologne, Germany, and to blend into the Union choir.

The Wal field hockey team travels to Portland today for participation in the Northwest Intercollegiate conference. The team will play three games, two on Sunday against Centralia Junior College, Oregon State, and Washington State. Last year B.J.C. defeated Centralia Junior College, and lost a game to Oregon State and the Portland Hockey Club. The traveling squad is composed of Edna Caterell, Rex Myers, Barbara Legrioni, Helen Lyman, Margaret Hamilton, Mary Lou Bachmann, Pat O'Connell, Rae Evans, Mary Morton, and Charlotte Graham, with Miss Schmidt, coach. In a preliminary bout with the College of Idaho, the B.J.C. team was defeated 13 to 0.

Sensational Halfback "Whizzer" White Was All-America in 1937

Byron White was just another Freshman halfback at Colorado University. During his freshman year he created quite a sensation on the gridiron, but he is now considered one of the top football hopefuls. Byron began his work at a fax home and worked around the stadium to paint his name on the trees and attend the University. He was also an excellent student, making Phi Beta Kappa in Colorado.

It was in his junior year that White began to look like a future football star. At the football halfback in his final season at the university when a Denver sports writer tagged him with the nickname "Whizzer." This year in his senior year he worked toward the Colorado University halfback title. He was widely acknowledged as "the greatest halfback ever to play at Colorado.

Nineteen-thirty-seven was Byron's year. He started it off with an -24 point against Minnisota. When playing Brigham Young, he returned 83 yard for a touchdown. Against Colorado State, "Whizzer" returned an 80 yard and a score. But it was against Colorado Mines that he was at his best. In the first play he fumbled 68 yards to score. Another time he fumbled 42 yards for a counter; a third touchdown came when White ran back a pass for 65 yards.

"Whizzer" was a well-built lad, 6 feet 11 inches, 210 pounds. He was known to carry the ball on 17 consecutive plays and was of the opinion that anyone who played less than 60 minutes of a game was "washed out." When "Whizzer" was missing before a half-back or game he often came, could usually be found on the sidelines.

The reason why the broncos didn't pass the ball to the twentyieg in overtime, was that we won, but we lost the downs. On the first play, Ward fumbled and Weber took over and marched to the twenty. Afterwards, all threats were turned off.

Minutes later, the Wildcats powered into the end zone for three. Back to the bid, lost a season game, but went out to win the championship.
