Editing Column of Advice For Uncertain Students

If Lucy Estrin has kept a diary when she was a student at Oberlin College, her life would be much easier these days. For Lucy wrote a diary column appearing in a national magazine—two pages of advice for the anxious student.

The questions Miss Estrin deals with range from: "Should I go steady in my sophomore year?" to "How can I say it's all over?"

Lucy prepared for her post with Varsity, The Young Man's Magazine, by being one of the most popular class of '46 girls in the Oberlin chapter, as the feature was featured of the Review, a weekly newspaper, and as an assistant editor of the college yearbook. In her Varsity magazine articles, Lucy's advice at ten major dating faults of college life. First, Joe-who's-in-love is the hero. He comes with an ex-ex, an ex-endorsement, and a long boring dialogue for the listener (1). And he's made no plans for the evening (3). The girl stimulants a suggestion while trying to get him out of her trap without assistance. She walks out (she drops the door) (4), and cash a hand (she falls in first) (5). At the bar they hide where they date and dance, the dancing date looks at Sassy Polly (4), assuming everybody to men in the same girl that she "looks amazing." Heredux without convincing her (7) and then, it's a Grand Rover man of tone, begins — a load of voice of all the conclusions he's ever made.

Finally he Enters his gentleman to the dance floor. He pitt限s while everyone else descents, and tries out a few routines that no American girl ever learns alone. When he meets a friend on the dance, she doesn't introduce the girl he's entertaining (9). And when he leaves her at the door after a brief tissle he says, "See you tomorrow, this is classy."

Stakes cannot travel as fast as people suspect. One species of kingfish has a maximum speed of about 8 miles an hour, a bull stakes 1/18 miles on an hour, and the red roses of California less than an hour.
