Bachmann, Carringer, Soudier, Pyper Star
In Annual Production

The "Glass Menagerie," the second all-school play of the year, will be presented in the BJC Auditorium on Tuesday, April 26, at 8:15.

The play was written by America's most famous modern playwright, Tennessee Williams. His play, "A Streetcar Named Desire," is now playing on Broadway. The "Glass Menagerie" has won high fame and awards. It has been given the New York Critics Circle Award, the Pulitzer Award for 1945 and was included in Burns Mantle's 10 best plays of the year 1946.

The cast stars Mary Lou Bachmann as the verboose, nagging, anxious mother, Amanda Wingfield. She loves her son and daughter and wants security for them. But she tries so hard that she ruins everything.

Lila Bauder as the daughter, Laura, is the quiet, crippled girl whose life lies between her collection of glass animals and records until it is broken for one memorable moment by a gentleman named Jim.

Pyper is the son Tom—the restless, imaginative youth who wanted so desperately to shake off the shackles that held him down and go with the merchant marines. At times he is mellow with his mother and sister; at other times he rebel s sulphurically at the oppression of his small family.

The boy, Jim O'Connor, vowed most likely to succeed in adult life is enchanted by Buryl Carringer. Jim is not too bashful or amiable; he shows a lot of reserve and is likely to be a wasteland opportunist, given himself "firm resolutions" to go both and conquer life, and even with a gum chewing complex and a flare for making girls fall for him, he rises to a sort of nobility.

Committees for the production of the play are now busy preparing for the performance. Committee members include: Jay Gillette, stage manager, assisted by Gaye Washam and Bob Oviatt; Ted Coltrin and Benny Sheuy, sound men; Diane Larson and Virginia Dunn, properties; Donna Johnson, script holder; Ellyn Johnston, publicity manager; house: Miss Helen Moore, Miss Margaret Doyle, Mr. Daily Edelstein, Mr. W. L. Gottenberg and Delta Phi members.

The play will be given only one night. Students will be admitted on their activity tickets.

The election has been postponed until next Wednesday, April 27, because of the absence of some of the candidates.

Names of the presidential candidates which will appear on the ballot are: By Erstad, Barbara Crowder, Delbert Hearn and Joyce Wardle. Vice-presidential candidates are: Lee Smith, Keith Illingworth and Harrow Oberbillig. Candidates for secretary are: Cosmic Olson, Celesta Dallagh, Pat Pond and Larry Randleman. The two candidates for treasurer are: Virginia Dunn and June Sawyer. Candidates for sophomore representative are: Ralph Hill, Barbara Thurston, Chuck Griffln and Mickey Ogen. This year most of the candidates are doing their campaigning singly or in pairs. However, one party has formed, the Liberal party, who is sponsoring Delbert Hearn, Richard Dalbrigh and Barbara Thurston.

Campaign visits are not quite as wild this year but with the exception of several days of campaigning, the candidates will have more of a chance to bring their ideas to the forefront.

The results of the election are expected to be quite close and hotly contested.

Of Dogs and Days...

Sometimes we wonder if many BJC students are going to obtain an education or merely for the sake of a diploma. If a student cannot take an examination without cheating, he has absolutely no business in any class—or even in school.

Several days before a test last week, duplicate copies of an identical examination were passed among several students. As a result, a good per centage of those in the class emerged with first place papers.

We are not concerned deeply with how some students get through school. In fact, in later years it will eliminate some of the competition because what a person actually knows is what counts when the time comes to hold down a job.

We're concerned with the student who really is trying, studying hard, and playing a fair game. He's the fellow who gets hurt in a deal such as this. Due to the system of grading on a curve, the student who does not do as much has much chance to make a passing grade. He cannot afford to miss a single question, he looks like a "numbskull" and is naturally the one to receive the failing grade.

After the particular exam in question, many of the students stood out from the front door, having been held over by a few minutes the way they had done, and degrading the instructor for being stupid enough to give "an identical test two semesters in a row."

Perhaps they laugh now, but as the old saying goes: "Every dog has his day." We feel certain that the few who were fair will be the ones to make a showing after graduation, even if they did have to suffer unfair competition during school.

Brons vs. Pilots???

Just for the record and another way to prove that BJC had won the baseball games with EOC.

Before EOCE came to Boise they defeated the professionals in the Pilot league. The result could very easily be interesting.

Now that we have such a good team why not have more students out to watch the games.

Spring Fever...

No More Need Be Said

Spanish Club Attends Fiesta

Students of the BJC Spanish Club attended a "Fiesta" at Kuna high school last Thursday. The Spanish Department of Kuna high was the host and the program consisted of dancing, singing and a one-act comedy, all in Spanish.

Pat Pond is out for all votes.

She even will do things on a dare. She shows no fear. It seems that she wants to get four more votes if she would wear size 12 shoes to one of her classmates. She did it.

Gossip and Bags

Not only was it wonderful to be out of school but Phil Schram was also in a surprise vacation at home. Seven days. Seems that Helen got the party up and really surprised those who were there. Lev Smith, by Errand, Harry Goodie, Jim Thompson, and Mary Jane Houts.

Others were having surprise parties over the Easter vacation as well. A big birthday picnic was given for Dick Wincl and Mickey Whol. Arrt Williams, Ruth Kliger. Those who were were Pat Payne, Lev Nelson, Jack Stoddard, Mattie Keene, Betty Beev, Lev Nelson, Rustie Alegria. Al Salter and Nettie Fay.

No one came west to see us. And we miss them all.

Boise Defeats Idaho In Three Games

Boise Junior College played to Eastern Oregon College of Education last weekend and sent the Broncs really turned on their scoring power Tuesday, when they batted out 40 runs against Idaho's 16, to drub the Nazarene Crusaders 16-5. NNC was off to a four run lead at the end of two innings of play, due mainly to Beukelman, Johnny Crater's home run in the first inning. BJC came back with two runs of their own in the next two innings to close the gap.

In the 5th inning Boise broke loose for five runs to take a 7-3 lead. Harry Goebel, shuffling in from shortstop, led this surge by cracking a single with the bases loaded. The next two innings brought eight more runs across the plate for Boise, as the home team gained wide open. The Broncos scored two more runs for good measure in the 8th inning while NNC came back with their last run of the game, with one out.

Jim Fuller started on the mound for BJC and was relieved by Jack Grader in the 3rd inning. Fuller gave up only one hit in his seven inning stint. . and yourselves a break and spend Grader in the 3rd inning. Grader benefitted by being a spectator at the softball fever has taken con- trol of fine catches in left field and also fabled last Monday. Bobby Green, EOC's pitcher, gave up a grand hit and cure up- ward of five cobblestone to the softball fever has taken control of the season.
