What to Do With Time This Summer

Have you been wondering what to do with your time this summer? According to Wilton E. Hartzler, vice secretary for the Portland region, the American Friends Service Committee is offering to college students, who are socially minded, an opportunity to very profitably spend that time by putting "Freedom Into Action."

The major purpose of the programs offered is to give students first hand acquaintance with problems and give them the opportunity to help solve those problems. Although the program is international, it is based on the Friends' (Quakers') belief that, rather than resorting to war and violence we can overcome differences through exercising the power of love to promote understanding between nations, races and classes. This can only be done by working out the problems. Mr. Hartzler led the two classes and the I.R.C. club, to which he spoke last Wednesday, of the different programs designed for college student participation. These programs include:

- an interne program in which students gain first hand work experience working in industry or agriculture; an institutional Service program providing students opportunity to give service as regular employees at state institutions such as mental hospitals; and work camps in the U.S., Mexico, and overseas, established to give help to peoples in dire need of it. Students participating in the first two programs receive the prevailing wages, but those giving service in the last program pay their own expenses and donate their services.

Not of least importance is the experience students of different races and nationalities will get from living, and working together. Another program, a seminar of international relations, is designed primarily for the purpose of giving students from conflicting countries and areas a chance to become acquainted and work out their problems as individuals. At the seminar invited visiting faculty members will give ideas concerning the obtaining of world peace.

Listen to the Drip

Are you one of those who have been sitting quietly minding your own business in the library, when all of a sudden you hear a strange "drip, drip" and look around, wondering if you're going nuts, or if it's really raining on such a nice warm cloudless day? And then you see others with their heads cocked, listening to the "drip, drip" too, and you figure that if you are going nuts, some others are coming with you!

Then, all of a sudden, you see—what! Can it be—Yes, a steady drip, dripping of water from above! Then you relax and wonder why you hadn't realized it before—why, it's only the kids in the chemistry lab up to their old tricks again. Goodness, they pour tubs of water all over the floor all the time—so why get excited over nothing? Guess they don't like the lab upstairs and want it to be sitting right where the library is now. Who knows, someday (maybe sooner than they think) this may happen! After all, then they won't have to climb all those stairs!

Future Teachers Plan Annual Picnic

The annual Future Teachers of America picnic has been set for Sunday, May 4, at 2 p.m. at Dr. Booth's home at 1703 Gourley.

Lena Jantz, chapter president, is general chairman for the affair, and promises lots of food, and games. There will also be a speaker. All education majors at B.J.C., both in and out of the Future Teachers, are invited to attend this picnic.

may not be great the value of experience you can gain from participation in one of these programs is immeasurable, and what is more, you will have put to action the idea of freedom—freedom of the individual to think and act for himself.

All students interested contact Dr. Baker for further information.

Weekly Wisdom

By Cleon M. Kotter

As we pile higher and higher the blocks of foreign aid and rearmament to our barrier against communism, should we not be alarmed by the wobbly foundation of indefinite and often corrupt policies and principles underneath the whole mass? With a breath of distrust (and who can deny that many of our actions are breeding distrust even among our allies) the whole thing could topple and fall into a worthless heap.

Scriptural Wisdom: When a man's ways please the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him. Better is a little righteousness than great revenues without right. (Proverbs 16: 7-8)

B.J.C. A CAPELLA CHOIR TO FINISH ANNUAL SPRING TOUR THIS WEEK

A.W. to Elect New Officers Wednesday

The Associated Women will hold their election of next years officers this Wednesday.

At a meeting last Wednesday, the names of the candidates placed on the ballot for the various offices by the A.W. officers were made known to the women and petitions were handed out to those who wanted to place additional names on the ballot.

Those nominated by the A.W. officers for offices were: Marian Watson and Rosalie Hartwell for president, Carma Murdock and Virginia Harris for vice-president, Norma Dike and Delores Nielsen for social chairman, Janet Austad and Terry Wagstaff for treasurer, and for sophomore representatives, of which there are two, Sue Collins, Sue Freeman, Helen Hall and Ilene Muhlestein. The secretary and freshman representatives will be elected next year from the freshman class. Outgoing president this year is Annette Black.

Morrison Hall Dance

Morrison Hall women had their spring dance last Saturday night in the dorm recreation room. The dance was semi-formal and is going down in the handbook as an annual affair from now on.

Theme for the dance was "Blue Moon" and the decorations were "fitted and proper" to the theme. The false ceiling and walls were dark blue with silver stars on the ceiling. There were also several white rose trellises with yellow flowers on them. The dance programs were silver moon-shaped with blue ribbons.

Sixteen girls and their dates attended. A few of those attending were: Dorla Hogenmiller and Nolan Ford, Lucy Spackman and Ed Thompson, Bonnie Cady and Jerome Comeau, Barbara Moulton and Don Bagley, Virginia Worley and Bruce Harvey, Charlie Parker and Bill Gottenberg, and Ginia Harris and Wayne Patrick.

Language Conference Held

We need citizens and statesmen who have an understanding of the cultural background of other countries. For this reason, the trend of the college foreign language departments is to get away from literature as the sole objective of language study and to include other worthwhile fields into the study. This is according to Dr.

Tuesday, April 22, was the first big day for the Boise Junior College a cappella choir. By big day, we mean the first day of their choir tour. The tour is being worked a little differently this year than previously. Instead of going two days and staying overnight they are going one day this week and they went one day last week.

Last week the choir sang four concerts: Nyssa, Ontario, Vale and Fruitland. This week they will be singing in Nampa, Caldwell, Eagle and Payette.

On the program is: Tenebrae Factae Sunt (sung in Latin) by G. Palestrina; She Is So Dear, by M. Praetorius; With Drooping Wings ("Dido and Aeneas") by H. Purcell, from the first opera in English; O Sinner, Come Thy Grief to Mourn (chorale) by J. S. Bach; He That Doth Search the Heart (Motet Movement) by J. S. Bach; Potato Liftin' (Scotch) by A. Warrell with soloists, Barry Binning, Annette Black, Ronald Cochran, Myrtle Siebe; Hame, Dearie, Hame (Scotch) by M. Bartholomew; Jacob's Ladder (American Negro) by G. Lynn with soloists Barry Binning, LaRae Dunn, Bob Watson, Paul Ward; Waltzing Matilda (Australian) by Cowan-Wood; Home on the Range (American Cowboy) by C. Griffith Bratt with soloists, Paul Ward, Sharon White, LaRae Dunn, Bob Watson and Greyson Andrist; Soldier, Soldier, Will You Marry Me? (American Revolution Melody) by Tom Scott with soloist girl, Myrtle Siebe, soldier, Barry Binning and percussion, Bob Watson; Wondrous Cool, Thou Woodland Quiet by J. Brahms; In Heaven Above by F. M. Christiansen with soloists, LaRae Dunn, Paul Ward; and When You Know I Know by F. Lachmer.

The Madrigal Singers, composed of Jo Ann Hartzler, Lucille Spackman, Sharon White, Barry Binning, Paul Ward, LaRae Dunn, Sue Freeman, Terry Wagstaff, Bob Bakes, Ronald Cochran and Jerry White, sang the following numbers: With Love My Heart Is Ringing, April Is In My Mistress' Face; In These Delightful, Pleasant Groves, and My Bonnie Lass, She Smileth.

deNeufville who recently enjoyed "a first rate intellectual experience" attending the Third Annual Pacific Northwest Conference of Foreign Language Teachers held at the University of Oregon, April 17th through 19th. Foreign language teachers from British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, Alberta and Idaho attended.

A Winning Team Needs Support

Boise Junior College has its football teams and its basketball teams—and good ones they are, too. And then in the spring, B.J.C. has its baseball team. Though B.J.C. students give support to their football and basketball teams, it seems to slack down quite a bit when the baseball season comes around. If there is to be a winning team—in anything, football, basketball or baseball—the team must have support—good support. So, come on all, we supported our other teams, now let's also support our baseball team.

Last week little Johnny Tameno suffered a broken ankle for his willingness to give a photographer an action shot. The shot above shows him as he was sliding into second base, when he broke his ankle. Dwight Dickey is shown tagging him.

Broncs Bow to C of I

The bad luck of the Broncs blossomed well last Tuesday when they met the College of Idaho at Boise. The Broncs fell behind and just couldn't come up. The Boise squad made many errors which accounts for the stunning 9-1 score.

B.J.C. has played the C. of I. three times this year. Boise won the first game and has lost the last two. It seems the Coyotes didn't like their defeat at the hands of the Broncs and have been out for revenge. After talking to some of the Boise players, it sounds like the next game with the C. of I. should be interesting.

AW Plans Ice Cream Social

The A. W. plans a real old-fashioned ice cream social sometime soon. It will be held some afternoon out on the lawn in front of the Ad building, and a dance on the U-shaped driveway will be a special attraction. Keep your eyes and ears peeled for more information on this affair.

Driscoll Hall

By Percy

The boys in Driscoll were saddened Tuesday afternoon when Johnny Tameno broke an ankle while sliding into a base on the ball field. Johnny will be missed while in the hospital as he is a live wire in the dorm. We all hope for a fast recovery.

We have some boys in the dormitory who are very much interested in golf. Every evening after dinner the boys are out on the green between the Ad building and the Union, driving the ball around. Some of the boys are Vanoy Hyman, Keith Stanwood, and Dwight Dickey.

We are glad to see spring weather finally arrive, because we can get out of the dormitory rooms, nice as they are, to lounge and play around on the grass.

VALKYRIES

The Valkyrie pledge initiation will be held Wednesday evening starting at 6:30, at the home of Laura Lyman. All pledges remember your skits and your food.

PI SIGS

You'd never guess! For the first time, the Phi Sigma Sigma side-tracked from the formal initiation!

Ceremonies were conducted at Ridenbaugh Park. A wet-rock race was run and the two losers were allowed to break two raw eggs for the winners. Ray Miller gave a demonstration on how to eat raw eggs before the winners emptied their shells.

Emblems of the Phi Sigma Sigma were given to each new member. Refreshments followed. Outgoing president Ed Hedges conducted the ceremonies.
