In Our Opinion

Amidst the recent uproar for more support from the stands at our football games is the furor trying to acquire a cheering section for BJC, we have encountered another problem which should get some attention. Has the mature student become the forgotten man on campus? The decision last week of the student council regarding the seating arrangement in the stadium would certainly lead one to believe so. To ruling us students out as a mass attack is that we are older and kids of students from the reserved section on the north side of the field. We are not a so-called battalion invited for the married students, and there are a good many others. This has been the game all along, a guided and ill-conceived action on the part of the student council is ridiculous, and by enforcing the thing, we are cutting our own throats.

There has been much hullabaloo during the last few weeks about self-confidence, and the like, and now to be the second come up with this decision, which will discriminate against married students and their families, is completely beyond our comprehension. We will readily agree that BJC students need a section to themselves, that it should not be opened to the public at large, that the idea of having our people concentrated in one area is an excellent one, but in spite of the lack of space available, the unhampered is far, we do not understand that the section in which we will accommodate something like 625, and we realize that activity has been voiced, yet the general opinion on campus is that seats should go on a first come, first served basis. We have signed a list of students on this matter during the last few days and the occurrence of opinion, we are in the marriage market, that if the school does not want a man's wife to attend, as it formerly to be out of the question in this regard, the fellow may buy himself another ticket, thereby being the provincial, we hope, the student will listen to the voice of the campus, be more lenient with their restrictions, and let all of us, as a family, we are our school be on the campusomat, and enjoy Homecoming.

At the time the student council has done a good job in the administration of affairs and we shall look forward to hearing the defense of their latest action.

What Are the Esquires?

The next generation of students have heard of the Esquire's club and wondered what it is. Founded in February 1941, it is composed of seniors and designed to integrate the extracurricular with campus life.

The rich wills of many wealthy alumni, such as giving tickets at the ball games and participating in international sports.

Officers this year include: president, Clarence Alegria; vice-president, Jack Spaulding, treasurer, Chuck Maestretti, secretary, LeRoy Chase, and Sergeant-at-Arms, Charles Rockland.

The Esquires wish to invite students interested, as well as any member of the public to hold meetings, which are held every Wednesday at 7:30.

The BJCY vocational program is more comprehensive and better equipped to meet the needs of people in rural areas. It meets on Saturdays and provides instruction in various trades and vocational skills, such as carpentry, plumbing, electricity, and automotive repair, to prepare students for gainful employment.

As explained by Mr. Vernon Bechtel, director of vocational education at BJCY, the program covers four phases.

First, through a trial period and pre-employment classes, students are taught basic skills and workplace etiquette.

Second, through a series of workshops and practice sessions, students are given actual work experience in their chosen trades.

Third, through a final test, students are assessed for their readiness to enter the labor market.

Fourth, through job placement services, students are matched with employers who need their skills.

Along with this, theory pertaining to the trade is taught, giving the students a better background and knowledge of their work, and also helps them in earning the required number of units for certification.

With these programs, students can also earn a general education diploma in a specific trade. Given at night, the programs are designed to accommodate the schedules of working adults and those who need to retrain for new careers.

In this way, the BJCY vocational program provides a comprehensive and practical education that prepares students for successful careers in various fields.

The Friday afternoon at Rexburg two undefeated football teams will clash, the two being BJC and Ricks. One of Idaho's oldest rivals, the Vikings will present one of the finest and most intriguing contests of the year. They are expected to meet this season. It is a happening fact that both teams would be up for this game to stay undefeated and neither one is forgetting that 38-25 last year, especially the Vikings.

To start off its undefeated season the Vikings beat Carroll 25-0, the next weekend took Idaho 35-0, then Westminster 20-0. Dixie has none with Southern Utah before winning last week against Snow 8-7 and slaughtered Carbon 33-14. Four of these five were conference games which leaves Ricks in a first place tie with Dixie. The winner of Friday's game can be the champion since it is a last game and the Vikings last conference game.

A few of the Vikings that the BJC fans have to keep an eye on are Ryley, Cranston, Debro and Harris. All of these players have been instrumental in leading the Vikings this year.

Going back to the fact that Ricks is one of Iowa's toughest schools, we know that the first game between these two traditional rivals in 1947, BJC won 20-10. Since then BJC has beaten Ricks seven straight games. Of these seven games they came so close to winning last year that it was just their missed PAT that prevented them from winning.

There are 11 varsity basketball and 30 junior varsity basketball players who remember that record winning tie, and every one of them will be out to prove it.

Looking back into the historical columns, here are the previous results:
