In Our Opinion...

HOMECOMING, that event of events, overshadowed only perhaps by graduation work, is upon us again and we expect the festivities this year to be as magnificent as ever. Next Saturday all Boise will turn out at Bronco Stadium to witness the parade of floats, watch a heated football game, and see the beautiful girls of the Brownie Brides.

The floats this year promise to be especially interesting. Students have been entered and are busy planning the way we had the other day. There is not one that does not deserve favorable comments. The floats represent long hours of untold work for the various individuals and committees but the results produced will certainly be worth it.

And let's take time out to thank another group whose prodigious efforts have helped make this possible. The Homecoming committee, led by Margaret Quick, chairman, has devoted many an evening hours over the last few weeks to the organization of activities, and we feel certain that the celebration will be up to our expectations and be one of the most successful in years.

The five girls upon whose eyes will be turned Saturday are those program Queen finalists. While there is no way, of course, of having advanced information on the selection of the candidates, we have every reason to feel that by next week we will be able to say that our dark haired benefactors will be resourceful princesses. We offer advanced congratulations to our Queens-to-be.

The ball game promises to be a difficult one but our confidence in BJC has never been shattered. After the fumbles last week there can be little in doubt that the BJC squad really has in this trip and we'll give the Washingtonians a lone or two.

Even the old timers among us who credited that last year's team was a little better, have changed their minds. All in all, it will be a terrific day, one that will be hard to forget.

F.T.A. Observe Education Week

The first F.T.A. chapter is sponsoring the annual Education Week on F.T.A. campus through its annual "Be a Wise Voter" drive for new members.

American Education Week has been observed annually since 1921. It was originally established by joint action of the National Education Association and the American Legion. Two other organizations, now in cooperation in sponsoring this program, are the United States Office of Education and the American Association of Parent-Teachers.

This week has been set aside to inform the public of the benefits and advantages of education. It is a day when the spotlight is put on the value and vital necessity of education in the United States.

The Boise schools will be meeting with a national program of presenting a special invitation to every parent and patron to visit the public schools. Along with this BJC will play host to one of the new half million dollars in art supplies to be used in the classroom. Members of the faculty and staff of the school system will show the people the building.

Education majors, including freshmen and sophomore students, are urged to join the organization by the 23rd as state and national leaders will be sent in at that time. Our local F.T.A. chapter is affiliated with the National Education Association, the largest professional organization in the world, and also with the Idaho Education Association.

The BJC chapter serves as the state leader in the United States. The activities of the F.T.A. club are designed to help students understand and appreciate the establishment of the United States.

What is the Canterbury Club?

The Canterbury Club is a youth organization run by students of the Episcopal church. Its program has many purposes.

First, it attends, as a service club, to aid in worthwhile school and community projects.

A second project is study. It acts as a bible study group, Fellowship, its third aim, encourages active participation in social activities.

Its fourth purpose is worship. The club holds a corporate communion service in the auditorium Wednesday mornings at 7 a.m. Officers include president, Paul Torrey, vice president and secretary, Jack Eaker, secretary, Jean Arrins. Father Arthur Johnson acts as chaplain.

Alumns of the north Idaho League of the Student Union attend The Canterbury Club regularly and anyone may become a member to attend.

Alumni Returns

Returning alumni for the 1959 Homecoming game will include students Thomas, Peggy Biddle and Marline Hood. Graduates of BJC last June, Robert and Peggy Simon are attending Sacred Heart School of Nursing in Spokane, and Marline is a science major at Oregon State.

One Man's Opinion

Process, Margaret has decided to put dig first and send Captain Phillips in early. She then got around to things, though Meg will not marry, of course, of course. "At least she got asking now," the caption said. "The Eagle is thinking of sponsoring an outing to see some young people who would appreciate it."

A popular report stated recently said that some of the girls "have got the罗斯." This is, in your words, "the most outmoded thing in the world."

I know the football team wishes Pat (Ralph) Weedy was back because we have not heard from him in some time. We miss his letters to the campus.

One of the most interesting things that happened at Boise State was the day the players went to the City Hall to get their uniforms. They were led by President Franklin R. Wilson and John W. Neff, the football team was defeated after four rounds of the three-day contest.

Family members serving as judges were Mrs. Mary Burnette, Mrs. Helen Nunn, Miss Miss L. A. Hansen, Mr. Franklin R. Wilson, Mr. John W. Neff, Mr. Gordon Gardner, Mr. Clancy Edelbrock, Mr. Merrill Edelbrock and Mr. John Douch.

The contestants are invited each year to register for the annual late fall debate.

We have received a reply to the editorial of last week from Fred Wainwright, A.S.H. president, but due to the limited available space in this issue, was unable to publish it. The letter will be run next week, and, if all goes well in Wainwright, we will reserve the editorial reply until that time.

Let's Get Acquainted

Mary Stewart is a young lady from Andrews, Virginia, who has a friendly smile for everyone. She has a great sense of humor and is a natural leader. Mary is a member of the Student Senate, and is active in events at Marshall Hall where she is a member of the floor committee, chairman of her suite at the dorm, and is in charge of decorations for the Halloween dance.

Mary has many reasons for liking BJC. It is close to home; she likes the campus; she thinks the dorm life is "very nice." The student body is rather large which helps to make people more focused in their goals. She finds the faculty very friendly and the facilities "very well qualified and helpful." Mary loves BJC with a love that is hard to explain. She finds BJC very much a home away from home. She is well integrated into the student body, and has made many friends in her short time here. She is a very outgoing person and never fails to make new friends. No matter where she goes, she always seems to find a friend to talk to. She is very happy in her new surroundings at BJC.
