"Name Bond" Election...

Final tabulations of the ballots cast in the "Name Bond" election held Friday indicated that the student body is overwhelmingly in favor of the movement.

The proposal to bring a nationally known character into the BCU campus or the annual spring festival was presented to the student assembly last Friday morning by Fred Walden, ASB president. Walden explained that the dance will be a joint student-drum af

The voting further indicated that in view of the additional students in favor of the movement are.

Of the total votes cast, 156 were in the affirmative, 12 negative—

Quoted as to their choice of students for the student voted Ralph Fleischman first choice with Robert T. Lane, Jr., and Bucky Morrow close runners-up.

The administration emphasized that although the student body evidences favor the movement, final authorization has not yet been granted. The proposal entails a considerable expenditure of funds and certain mechanisms must first be worked out. It has never been the custom to make immediate decision and final decision will be announced in the near future.

Robert B. Bakes, BJC graduate of the class of 1952, who has been studying law at the University of Idaho and is now a senior there has been appointed as an attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C.

Sophomores will register Monday, January 8, and 9. The two run

An Open Letter To Students

At the recent basketball game in which Boise Junior College was defeated by the local high school, a new gymnasium was made public by the students in the lower bleachers. The students of the Board and faculty are glad to see this fine behavior while in this section. However, there is one situation of which you should be aware.

Editorial...

The Roundup has been criticized. Indeed, it has been haggled and gnashed with. Last week's editorial, referring to the quality of the food at the Student Union, drew a volley of critical comments from students who feel that this is a basic prerequisite to proper组织生活. The complaints were so numerous and so vociferous that we have had to make a change. We realize that we have been very much in the wrong, and we have to admit that we have been wrong. We are willing to admit our mistake and to make amends for it.

But there is another side to the story. The Student Union is not perfect. It has its problems, its difficulties, and its shortcomings. It is not a place where one can always expect to find perfection. But we believe that it is doing its best to improve, and we hope that our readers will give it the benefit of the doubt.

One Man's Opinion

By Ron Draper

This week's editorial was a bit too harsh. It seems to me that the Student Union is doing a good job, considering the circumstances. The food is not perfect, but it is certainly better than it was a few years ago. The prices are reasonable, and the variety is good. I think that the Union is making an effort to improve, and I am willing to give it the benefit of the doubt.

Meet Your Teacher

Dr. Fred T. Olson

A young man with a warm smile has been selected as the new teacher of the week. He is Mr. C. C. Olsen, a new teacher at the Student Union.

His teaching methods are unconventional, to say the least. He often uses humor and playfulness to keep his students engaged. He is known to walk around the classroom, engaging with the students in a lighthearted manner. His approach to teaching is often described as "unorthodox," but it seems to be working well.

Mr. Olsen is a native of Minnesota, having grown up in the small town of Little Falls. He received his Bachelor's degree from the University of Minnesota and his Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. He has been teaching for ten years, spending six of those years in the Midwest and four in the Southwest.

Mr. Olsen is married to a woman named Mary and they have two children, a son and a daughter. When not teaching, he enjoys hiking, reading, and spending time with his family.

Mr. Olsen is a dynamic and engaging teacher, and we are very excited to have him as a part of our team.
