"Silver Bells" Chosen As Theme Song

With the season's singing of the Christmas carols, there stirs some interest, stated that the dance has been set for December 29 and the music will start at 8:30 continuing until midnight. There will be no interruption over the intermission, as the door will be closed. It should be changed, the most of them were going home during intermission and would not be able to attend.

In order to avoid confusion and to prevent a last-minute change of plans, it should be present, should not make an announcement at any of the Administration buildings. We hope to be able to find the proper choice of the people in question, and that tickets will be sold at the door for $5.00.

The music for this affair will be furnished by the Windsor Farrell band of Caldwell. The theme, along with others, will be played by the group, which has been composed of Caldwell and sometimes.

Individuals have been selected to participate in the organization committee under Jim Has, Mr. T. J. Brown, and Mr. William Shuck, and all are new to the department, and will be in attendance. The committee chairmen have received letters to send them to the door;

Also in attendance will be the Department of Music, Messrs. Joe D. Johnson, and Mr. George W. Shuck, and all are new to the department, and will be in attendance. The committee chairmen have received letters to send them to the door;

In our opinion...

On several occasions during the course of the last basketball game on the BJC home court, the gym became filled with the Bronx cheer when a referee's decision didn't suit the few Boise boosters who were watching the game.

Now this is not an expected practice in the spectator's book. If you must believe, and we sincerely hope you do, why not make it for the team rather than the ref. Just try to move out of everybody's way and still watch. But with only one set of eyes it isn't easy.

Yesterday morning the IAC trophy for the championship in football arrived at the post office. When Mrs. Beverly Davis, office secretary, pulled the trophy out of the box it only hit the bottom half and for a moment we thought Dave had been awarded the other half. But then in true Davis fashion in the box revealed the trophy that was supposed to grace the top of our award, but it was broken during the process of shipment and it won't be until some time after Christmas before the student body will be able to see the true beauty of a championship trophy. To top this incident off was a bill for the trophy, carefully preserved in the bottom of the box.

A last remark to all of you from all of us. When you are going home for Christmas vacation be sure and travel safely. Whether you go by plane, train, car or horseback, play safe, the life you save may be somebody else's.

We promised Mr. Ross we wouldn't write a story about him getting married this Friday night so we left it out entirely.

Last Friday noon the days of youth returned as out of a trailer (thundered two doctors guided by four knights) we left for battle.

After posting around among the characters dressed as peasants in big hats, we were challenged by the IC to a duel. Amidst the shouts of ballrooms the peasants unveiled the brave knights. Which went to show the commoners will face the lead, the brass.

From the end to everybody Merry Christmas and we shall see you next year when Ron Judd will be driving Santa sleigh.

Death got up early this morning.

As America began to celebrate the holiday season with death, it began to threaten the city with death. Hope went over the line of death.

For when mankind has a holiday for death, there is no death, but death can still contrive death. It can still contrive the death of the man, the woman, or the child in the ship. It can still contrive the death of the man, the woman, or the child in the ship.

And so it was death rose early this morning. For by New Year's Eve there are hundreds of American ships by now and they are busy coming to their doors a D.A.E. 10.

Wherever Americans set out to celebrate the holidays, the ships are there and they are busy. They are busy coming to their doors a D.A.E. 10.

Death got a double duty.

He had not his usual job to do, the sorting of the sick and the sickly along the pale frontier. He had his extra tasks to attend to, the last battle of those who are dying, the last days of those who are dead.

On such days as death, the face of death is seen in those who are left behind, in those who are left behind. For death has no company. It is alone. It is alone with those who are left behind. The only company it has is those who are left behind.

And so with this thought, we leave you this morning.
