IN OUR OPINION . . .

"What a blast!" and "It beats working!" are comments heard often on the college campus. Are you one of the students who thinks this way? Are you attending college for the betterment of your future or for the better job and higher pay? Some students keep this opinion throughout their lifetime. However, the majority seem to think there is a purpose to these institutions is to prepare a person mentally, and to give him a background for the future. College does not teach a person everything he should know. Its main purpose is to teach a person to think for himself.

Upon graduation, the first thing that must be done if starting a new job is to work. The individual must learn what work is and how to work with the company and its products. It is a very personal experience, which can be used in professional experience. When he is in the field of a particular area, he will know what is going on in the field because of the education. However, it is not in the education that matters, but in the manner of applying it that counts.

In order to receive a B.S. or B.A. degree, students must attend college for at least four years. A person had been working for these four years, and he took that knowledge and put it into practice. He believed it worth the effort for four years because the practice of doing better work than the previous experience is an important part of college education.

Because all colleges and universities are trying to improve their methods each year, continuous improvements are being made every day.

Make the most of the opportunity you have, for it may very well be the one you have been waiting for.

FRENCH CLUB

The French club held a social meeting January 14, at the home of Larry Stark. During the business season of the meeting plans were discussed for the future of the club in the Lea House, and for the float to be built next year for the annual homecoming parade.

In order to raise sufficient funds for the club, members are looking for employment during February for the tennis team, and their social work, while working as a photographer in their spare time.

Mr. Carr has an assignment which interests many of the photography students, East End. Mr. Carr was given the assignment to photograph the event and the way it is done was the subject of discussion. This is the first meeting of the year and there is no better time to mention the education that goes into taking pictures than when you have so many people watching the photographing.
