Roundup, March 10

Associated Students of Boise Junior College
The annual BJC Delta Psi Variety Show features Greenwich Village theme. At the show, tickets will be available for the characters and actors who performed earlier in the evening. The show will feature a variety of performers from different genres, including dance, music, and comedy. The show is expected to be a success, with many attendees looking forward to seeing the performances. The evening will end with a grand finale, including a special performance by the Student Union Band. The event is open to the public, and tickets are available at the door for $5.00.
IN OUR OPINION

It's time to take stock of yourself. Are you up with the times? How well informed are you with the events in today's newspapers?

In these days of rapid changes in the world situation, one cannot afford to miss even a day in the coverage of the news. A thinking person must not become indifferent to world happenings. Only with a knowledge and understanding of the reasons behind the events in the world today, and a knowledge and understanding of the nation danger, and the common enemy, can citizens intelligently take a stand against them.

A man who spends his time learning to quote Greek masters in their own language yet does not know the events taking place in their own country, and who is uncritical, is either a fool or a dead end. He can never be truly learned without a complete knowledge of his own country.

And only then can he be千年exalted in studying to the study of other cultures and societies. There is a certain certain in twins, a well-rounded person the important step toward achieving this is an understanding of the by the day's news.

Take stock of yourself. Are you as busy as a bee or just one of the vast army of different?

WE WANT THE NEWS...

The Roundup news box is a sincere attempt on the part of the Roundup staff to give full coverage to the news events of the campus and alumni.

It is located in the important area of the form 121, and its value as a campus news supplement varies widely from that of the student and faculty members.

If you are in doubt about what constitutes news, drop a note in the Roundup box. And if you have any ideas, please write to the editor of the student news section.

A VOTE OF THANKS...

A special vote of thanks is due to the student and faculty members who have been so very helpful in their work for the Roundup.

Tomorrow morning, and at last time the student news section is completed and ready for publication. Keeping the student news in touch is not an easy job, particularly when everyone has their hands full. We are sure you have all been trying to get your work done.

Students Learn Clothing Selection

In Mrs. Thelma Allison's clothing selection class, the students concentrate on the proper type of clothing for the individual.

The course helps the student look and dress her best, and with the best taste," said Mrs. Allison.

In the evening, clothing which is taught by the unit construction methods, the woman complete five programs a year, an apron, blouse, skirt, dress, and any other outfit of her choice.

Some of the more advanced students complete many more during this time.

The students use more than three hours and see one demonstration each week.

"Oh, what are you doing perusing out behind that trash...

"Looking for a woman with good look..."
"How can you tell a woman with good taste?"

"You watch and see if she's wearing naturally advertised brands. A woman with good taste knows the quality that is to be found in every brand name..."

The hands I'm watching for are Alex Colman, White Stag, Canidae, Jantzen, and Rose White Comfortable, she is all those brands."

"That's right. I. C. Anderson's has all those..."

Do You Know Baseball Lingo?

Slang expressions must have a beginning although many of them seem as though they have been around forever.

Now that the baseball season is on us again, let's take a look at some of them and what they mean.

Bail-up — In the old days, there appears some gig to advertise "Bail Durham" tobacco. These signs usually were plastered on the fences in the deepest right and left field corners where the relief pitchers warmed up during a game. Thus "the bullpen." The term gradually caught on and became a baseball lingo to refer to a lefthanded pitcher as a "southpaw." The term eventually was adopted by a Cincinnati sports writer, Lawrence Sanfilliero, as the name for a lefthanded pitcher who was almost torn apart by the batter as he would be serving the plate. At the same time he would coin a new baseball term, which later became an oft-used phrase by many writers...

southpaw—Since most of the lefthanded pitchers these days are left-handed, the term "southpaw" has practically every male resident of National Association of Baseball Writers...
