OLD ST. MARGARET'S

Placing a half of needles into the hearts of many of Boise's senior residents, St. Margaret's is making her final bow this week. With the aid of the demolition squad, her broken, memory-packed walls will be bustled of existence and benevolently, she will be destined only in memory and in some—always a favored and beloved item of Idaho history.

While her beginning in old St. Margaret's is many of the school's faculty members, including President Charles Safford, take a look of the old class rolls...

Formal Dinner at the Union...

An area of activity, admired by only a small part of the student body and indeed by few of the faculty members, that seemed to the ol' 'hood of the students... is to dress up their terms at the Student Union.

The Wednesday and Friday night formal dinners are particularly impressive. Last Wednesday night was typical. Each student was properly dressed for dinner, much music flowed and cost for each man and term were included. Each student was carefully served in courses.

President Charles Safford and dinner department is observed in the matter that would be expected of a dinner table in another's home. Things were done to the best of their ability and to the best of the plan provided by three professional men.

The ultimate purpose of the formal dinners, some men and women who can take their orders and serve in a restaurant.

CAMPUS STYLES

By Veronica Pau

The story today is while I was down town looking for something light for the women, I was very much trouble with their feet. The women were walking with their feet cold and wet in the rain. I was walking with their feet cold and wet in the rain because their feet hurt. I couldn't do anything about them. I don't think all women are themselves; one girl that I talked to about their feet hurt. Her name was... um... let's see... let's see... uh... I don't know... um... let's see... um... let's see... um...

BJC Loses First Conference Game

The BJC Broncos went down to defeat in their first conference clash Friday at Ogden as the Weber Wildcats rallied for 6-1 victory.

BJC jumped to a 1-0 first inning lead on Doug joy's double, but the Wildcats tied the count in the second on a double and a triple. The Broncos tied again in the third when Ron Gushy singled, stole second and scored on Gary Smith's single.

Weber moved ahead in the fourth inning.

The Broncos took the lead again in the fifth inning as they tallied two runs on a single by Jory and three walks.

Weber tied the count in the sixth on a WC error and a Weber single. The Wildcats added an insurance run in the eighth.

BJC Squad Splits Double-Header

BJC recently split a double-header with the Eastern Oregon Mounties, dropping the first game 1-0, while winning the second 5-4.

This brought the Bronco diamond squad record to two wins against their first conference foe.

Both teams out-hit the Broncos but lost the contest 5-4. Both teams had a hit in the second inning with Boise scoring on singles by Gary Yates and Jim Caffey, following four walks.

SUPER SUB!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew eat meals.

Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only all-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally for you wouldn't hear about it from either it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not surprisingly, results are quite remarkable.

Bogged but, those submersions. Great drink, Coca!
