DANGEROUS DIPHTHERIA AT WORK

To many people of this generation, diphtheria is a word that brings back memories of accidents in childhood and the discomfort of hospital stays. Yet today, diphtheria is a potentially lethal disease that is still with us.

In recent years, there have been a few outbreaks of diphtheria, and even though these outbreaks are small compared to the past, they serve as a reminder of the importance of vaccination. Vaccinations for diphtheria can prevent the disease from causing any harm to individuals.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommend that all adults and children receive a complete series of diphtheria vaccines. This is important because diphtheria can be spread through respiratory droplets and can cause severe illness if not treated promptly.

In addition to getting vaccinated, it is also important to practice good hygiene habits such as washing hands regularly and staying away from people who have symptoms of respiratory illness.

Remember, vaccination is the best way to prevent diphtheria. By getting vaccinated, you can help protect yourself and others from this potentially dangerous disease.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

When the vacant position of student editor of the BJC has been advertised, it has been the custom to receive applications from a variety of students. However, this year, the position has been filled by an unexpected candidate.

Edith Mihai, a freshman at Boise Junior College, has been selected as the new student editor of the BJC. Edith has been a member of the newspaper staff for several months and has shown great potential as a writer and editor.

Edith Mihai's appointment is a testament to the value of providing opportunities for students to gain experience in journalism. By giving students the chance to work on a college newspaper, they can develop valuable skills and gain valuable experience that will serve them well in the future.

Congratulations to Edith Mihai on her new position and thank you for your dedication to the BJC.
