District Voters Support Community College

PRESIDENTIAL MEMO
May I congratulate the students and faculty on the outstanding display of democracy we saw in our bond election last Tuesday. The message of our needs was so clearly presented by the very people (students and alumni) who were working daily in our college buildings that when the voters got this particular opportunity to solve the problem of inadequate space, they voted a four-year approval for library-classroom and vocational buildings.

I am particularly thankful of the support given this college just preceding this Thanksgiving holiday.

EUGENE B. CHAFFEE, President, Boise Junior College

Junior College Gains Major Victory
As BJc District Approves Bond Issue

The BJc district voters came through on Nov. 21 in tooting support of the bond issue to provide funds for the construction of a new library building and additional classroom facilities on campus.

The $600,000 issue was approved by an increase of 86 per cent affirmative vote.

A total of 6,090 voters showed an increase of 664 more voters than last year when the proposal was defeated.

Approximately $600,000 will be used for the construction of a new library building and academic and academic classroom colleges. The remaining $200,000 will be expended in the construction of vocational class-training and laboratories.

This major BJc victory will enable the Boise college to "continue to give quality education to the young people," according to Dr. Eugene B. Chaffee.

The result of this election reflects the interest of the community in meeting the increased needs of its educational institution, the trustees agree.

All of the voting precincts reported "yes" majorities in excess of 66 per cent necessary for passage. Results of the election will be released at Carfield School 418 to 103; Roosevelt School 368 to 81; Lowry School 424 to 124; Milnor School 241 to 60; Washington School 506 to 89; White School 95 to 90; Cole School 235 to 86; Franklin High School 226 to 77; Jefferson School 395 to 84; Boise Junior College 230 to 91; Madison School 173 to 65; McInley School 326 to 41.

Entertainers Coming To BJc December 8
The Tilthee, Dick Davies, James Semore and Duane Hulst will perform Saturday, Dec. 8, at 8:30 p.m. in the BJc gym. Program will feature special folk music and running the gamut from slapstick comedy to semi-serious drama.

Musical Christmas Planned on Campus

The Boise Junior College Christmas music schedule has been outlined by Dr. Griffith Brett, music instructor.

The annual traditional Christmas Choir Concert of BJc will be held Sunday, Dec. 16, at 8 p.m., in the music auditorium.

The choir tour is scheduled for Dec. 11 and 12 at Sun Valley.

The Boyce and Drama departments will put on their Christmas Play Dec. 14.

Bennie Madison of Inter Faith Council is chairman of the campaign for library funds and appeal of the bond issue, under the direction of Mr. Fancher, chairman of the English department. A series of tableaux representing holidays will be presented Friday, Dec. 14. The BJc Chorus will perform and the Mayor of Boise will read the Christmas story.

Continued on the campus is scheduled for Dec. 18, the final day of school before Christmas vacation.

Post Game Dance Fair

An all-school dance, sponsored by the Newman Club, is scheduled for after the basketball game in the Student Union, Dec. 1. The price is 50 cents per student, and school clothes will be in order, says Lawrence chairman, Edra Wooton.

Chairmen in charge of tickets are Sue Sur and Janie Greens.

The statesmen will provide the dance music.

The Better Half of College

Too many students, when asked where they are going to college, feel that they are putting themselves where they say "BJC" is because they have decided that since this is a junior college and a community college, it is less of a college, and consequently there isn't much of a privilege connected with being a student here.

Asked why they are going here, the answer may well be, "I didn't have the money to go anywhere else." Boise Junior College is YOUR school. If you are here mainly because you couldn't go elsewhere for various reasons and are just "slogging it out" until your BJC college career in view is, by no stretch on an important aspect of your college life. With such a negative concern in their fields right here on our campus and the college itself has maintained a high academic record. And the duplication and book tur and the duplication and book tur

Reptile Display Attracts Attention

By R I N FRANCA

The biology department store, an additional educational feature to house the collection.

Christy Wright, a student biology major, is the volunteer who makes the reptile display happen. The display consists of snakes, lizards, and turtles. The snakes are kept in individual cages, and the lizards are kept in a glass case. The turtles are kept in a separate area.

The display is open to the public on weekends, and students can visit during the week.

 Quinnipiac Theoretical?

To the Editor:

I was interested to read that some students are interested in theoretical physics. As a physics major, I can attest to the fact that theoretical physics is an exciting and challenging field.

Basketball scholarships attract two Canadian boys to BJC.

One, Robert Smith, from Vancouver, British Columbia, was majoring in business. He is 21 and a transfer for two years in a bank, at the Accountant's department. Smith said, "Nothing is too different. It's alike back home from one state to another.

The other, John Ludwig, from B.C., is a freshman in pre-professional studies at the St. John's University. He has a 3.5 average and is a member of the four-year Basketball team. Smith broke the two-point touch down.

On one spectacular play Ludwig dashed around his own right end on the visitors' 47 yard line and ran amid a five-man pileup. He looked like the end of the line for Ludwig, but he outwitted his way through the mass with tackle falling off him like water from a duck's back. He terminated the extra point on the goal line with the NMIMI defense in hot pursuit.

On the ground Smith played his usual outstanding game and when extra-point was needed and there was no hole, Bill went over the top in 'Jim Taylor' style. But these two men alone did not make the game what it was. It was a matter of despairing to see the Boise win. The BJC's first defeat over the Cowgills, during the score at one win and one loss. Last year the game was close, 24 to 21. This year the Boise club must in high gear early and by half time held a 9-0 edge. They moved in the final period as did NMIMI but by then the victory was assured BJC simply outplayed them all the way and won all the way, 28 to 6.

BROUNOS’ BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS

COACH DALE CHATERTON (center) gives off offensive plays with Boise Junior College’s six returning letteremen: Jim Trinkle, Jim Christensen, Tom Wilson, John Day, and Frank Pullum, Blackfoot.

SPORTS ROUNDBUP

By DARRELL JENSEN

The BJC Broncos claimed their 1962 grid season by turning on the scoreboard and completely pulverizing the New Mexico Military Institute Broncos. Both teams carried the same nickname, and near identical records into the contest. But, opened the game with bone-crushing blocks on offense and the tackling was the best seen all season in the Boise stadium. Lyie Smith and his staff deserve a real pat on the back for their fine effort.

There is no team the Broncos played this year that could have withstood the shock treatment delivered by the Boise squad against NMMI. Even though the Broncos concluded with a 5-2-2 record, which many sports enthusiasts may call “fair” they were far better than mediocre. The BJC squad, with the excellent backing of the athletic mentors, was more than capable of holding their own on any Saturday afternoon or evening.

Post Mortem Observations

Some fans will grumble disgruntledly, “Why, went they don’t play like that in the beginning of the season?” Why? Losses are inexcusable in any sport of ours. We cannot grasp of our own team. What were the underlying causes for this?

Win a single game.

Many doubting Thomases regained their hopes of a winning season when BJC returned back and snapped the wings of the Carbon Eagles, 3-0.

Boys Scored

Then morale dipped to an all-time low when the loss of averages caught up with the Broncos and they lost a close one to the Olym-Pic Rangers. Then the opinion of the NMMI fans, “What’s wrong with the Broncos?”
