

©Paul Hosefros

Quintessential Boise

considers how buildings, streets and landmarks meet the needs of people and make the city a livable place.

Richly illustrated with art, maps and photography, the book offers a five-star system for rating architecture.

Charles Hummel is a fellow of the American Institute of Architects and a recipient of the City of Boise's lifetime achievement award. Tim Woodward has been a columnist at the Idaho Statesman since 1975.

ISBN: 978-0-9788868-3-7

9 0000

9 780978 886837

©Steve Blum/IdahoStockImages.com