

Urbans West Revisited offers a colorful primer on challenges faced by elected officials in mid-sized western cities. Featuring ten bellwether cities—Boise, Eugene, Modesto, Pueblo, Reno, Salem, Salt Lake, Spokane, Tacoma, and Tempe—the exploration finds common problems and hard-fought solutions in difficult times.

“A fascinating read. Writing for a broad audience, Witt and Weatherby explain how Western cities have managed growth during decades of (mostly) self-inflicted revenue shortfalls and increasing demands.”

—Brent S. Steel, Ph.D., Director,
Public Policy Graduate Program,
Oregon State University

Stephanie L. Witt, Ph.D., Carnegie Foundation “Idaho Professor of the Year,” is a professor of public policy and administration at Boise State University. Professor Emeritus James B. Weatherby, Ph.D., a former executive director of the Association of Idaho Cities, was a member of the board of directors of the National League of Cities. Both have served as chair of the Department of Public Policy and Administration at Boise State University.

Idaho Metropolitan Research Series
Boise State University Publications Office in the College of Social Sciences and Public Affairs
(208) 426-1368 • sspa@boisestate.edu • www.booksboisestate.com

ISBN: 978-0-9788868-8-2