

BOISE STATE IS IDAHO'S URBAN university and the largest on the Snake River Plain. A center for regional studies, the university serves the state's population center through pragmatic applications of scholarly research. Award-winning publications and innovative programs and projects in the humanities, sciences, social sciences and public affairs reflect the university's special interest in the culture and ecology of the West.

Front cover: Snake River Canyon by John Killmaster. Back cover: Idaho farmer by Steve Bly; blue heron by Michael Wickes/Wild World Productions; Shoshone, Idaho, by Glenn Oakley.