SUPERINTENDENT W. D. VINCENT
Superintendent of Schools
BOISE, IDAHO

This annual is respectfully dedicated:

• Because he bridged the gap between the Episcopalian and the civic sponsorship of the college;

• Because he has acted as educational advisor to the Junior College Board;

• Because he has been a friend and advisor of the students and faculty, we are taking this opportunity to express our sincerest appreciation.
Foreword

- The pioneer spirit of our young college, struggling with fortitude and faith to overcome its obstacles, sought and found expression in the initial venture of “Les Bois” last year, 1935. With the presentation of this, the second issue—an Aladdin fantasy in several acts—the publication of “Les Bois” bids fair to become tradition as Boise Junior College advances and emerges from the pioneer stage. May this volume serve as a monument of the school’s progress in 1936.

ADMINISTRATION
EUGENE CHAFFEE, M.A., University of California. Mr. Chaffee, through work as instructor in sociology, European history, American history, political science, and history of the northwest, has contacted almost all students of Boise Junior College.

MYRON S. CLITES, Ph.D., University of Indiana. For a second school year, Dean Myron S. Clites, leads our faculty in directing the student body toward higher scholarship. In addition to this versatile job, the dean supervises the departments of education and psychology, introductory and applied. The dean’s tasks include financial supervision of B. J. C.

MRS. CLARK HATCH, M.A., University of Idaho. Her responsibilities increased by the resignation of Dr. H. E. Childs, Mrs. Clark Hatch has had classes in freshman composition, English and modern literature. In addition, she is dean of women.

MRS. MARY HERSHEY, B.A., University of Minnesota. Mrs. Mary Hershey, registrar, is well-known to every student. This versatile woman is indispensable in the management of this school. In addition to library and office work, she teaches Latin.
DR. MAUD RICE, Ph.D., University of Washington. As head of the new zoology department, Dr. Rice came to Boise Junior College. She also teaches personal hygiene to women.

J. CALVIN EMERSON, M.S., University of Idaho. Under the able tutelage of J. Calvin Emerson, the chemistry course is becoming one of the most popular in this school.

DR. E. J. FAUST, Ph.D., University of Berlin. Dr. Faust, who took all his schooling in Germany, capably handles the German courses. This is his first year here.

HELEN MAYER FARRER, B.A., University of Oregon. B. J. C. was fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Farrer to replace Dr. Childs as director of play production.

JAMES L. STRACHAN, Oberlin College. Mr. Strachan, a member of the music conservatory staff, teaches piano, organ, and several theory courses.

A. B. CARSON, M.S., Vanderbilt. As head of the engineering department, A. B. Carson, another new instructor, teaches mathematics, engineering and physics.

MAX EIDEN, B.S., University of Idaho. Max Eiden leads B. J. C. athletic squads to victory and fame. He has charge of the physical education departments.

HELEN E. CRANE, M.A., University of Oregon. A new member of our faculty, Miss Crane is instructor of French and Spanish. She has studied extensively in France.

RUTH GALLOWAY, B.A., University of Oregon. Courses in general art and art appreciation are taught by Miss Ruth Galloway. Invaluable aid was rendered the school by the art department.

LUCILLE T. FORTER, Chicago Musical College. Mrs. Forter, also of the music conservatory staff, brings to students the benefit of her extensive voice training.
Executive Board

The constitution of the school provides for an executive board consisting of student body officers, two representatives from each class, and a faculty advisor. This board, the governing body of Boise Junior College, is very important in the efficient management of all business concerning the student body. All disbursements from the associated student body fund are made by it. All student body parties, rallies, dances, elections, and assemblies are sponsored and conducted by the executive board.

To efficiently carry out its multifold duties, the board meets each Wednesday night. These meetings are presided over by the student body president and were open to the entire school.

The executive board wishes to acknowledge the valuable aid rendered by its faculty advisor, Eugene Chaffee, whose cool judgment helped them out of many difficulties.

To reward their untiring efforts, the student body voted an amendment to the constitution providing for pins with the Junior College crest engraved on them for executive board members.

For the first time, Les Bois gives credit to a worthy organization. The Tribunal, elected in the spring of the year for the succeeding season, acts in a double capacity. By the associated student body’s constitution the Tribunal is given the right to act as a coercive agent and as a judicial power. Its duties consist mainly in the apprehension and punishment of window fracturers.

The three student members of the Tribunal must be elected from the upper class, and it is customary for one of these to be a girl. As in years past, the feminine member of the Tribunal filled the additional role of social committee chairman. The students showed good judgment in electing Max Eiden to the Tribunal, for there are times when a good man in an argument becomes indispensable.

In addition to the four pictured here, Dean Clites is a member of the court. Few students realize his position, but those on the bench appreciate his moral support.

A distinctly useful organization, the Tribunal will long be a part of B. J. C. government.

CLASSES
Sophomore Class

This year, unlike preceding years, the sophomore class was of sufficient size to dominate school life. Although as a class its serious accomplishments were few, these sophomores were active in school life. It was at their instigation that a standard design for school jewelry was selected. Though primarily for graduating sophomores, the crest selected has been used on pins, rings, and bracelets for all school clubs and organizations.

Boise Junior College is rightly used by many students as a stepping stone to higher things. Many of the graduating sophomores will go on to larger schools—some will accept scholarships made possible by the work they have done in Boise Junior College. Sam Porter, outstanding student, enters Annapolis in June through appointment of Senator Borah.

Distinctly above average were the scholastic averages made by the sophomores during their two years at Boise Junior College. The upper quarter of the sophomores in scholastic achievement over three semesters work consists of George Doerr, Robert Hart, Richard Frazier, Sam Porter, Margaret Kroeger, Mary Crooks, Marjorie Lynch, and Velva Davis.

Whether these sophomores retain other impressions or not, they will never forget that the watchword of their school life was work, and the conscious motive of their school existence was study subordinating other ambitions.

Always a privilege of the upper class, sneak day was enjoyed to the fullest by the sophomores. Although a strike day also was planned, nothing of sufficient importance to strike about could be found, so the idea was abandoned.

Many sophomores will receive recognition of their work in Boise Junior College in the graduation exercises. The baccalaureate sermon will be given by The Right Reverend Frederick B. Bartlett in St. Michael’s Cathedral, May 31. Commencement exercises will be held on the front lawn at 10:00, June 6. John W. Condie, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will deliver the oration of the day.

EVA WEBN, Science
The freshman class of this year numbered two-thirds of the student body. Significant of the fact that Boise Junior College's fame is spreading widely is the fact that one-fourth of the number are graduates of out-of-Boise high schools. Represented are schools in Nebraska, South Dakota, Colorado, Washington, Illinois, and California, and such far-flung Idaho towns as Hailey and Shoshone.

With its superior numbers the class played its part in athletics. Freshmen made up a large part of the football team. On the basketball floor, such mainstays as Anderson, Hoggatt, Sullivan, Coffin, and Piedmont represented the freshman class. Boise city tennis champion, Esther Hicks, and Boise high school's number one player, Albert Bush, represent the freshman class on the courts. A state champion, Velmer Pixley is the freshman class's bid for track fame. Many freshmen signed for baseball.

In activities of Boise Junior College the freshmen, if they have not dominated, have at least played their fair share. More than one-half of the Les Bois staff were of the freshman class. Harriet Klingler, gifted student from Hailey, is chairman of the assembly committee.

The freshmen contributed to the success of homecoming week. The class was in charge of the huge bonfire constructed on Lemp Triangle the night before the big Albion game. After spreading Boise Junior College fame through the streets of Boise, the students rallied around the fire to incite the spirit of victory.

Several students were outstanding scholastically in the freshman class this year. Elizabeth Brown has accomplished the aim of all scholars, an A average. She leads the group of twelve freshmen, highest in their class in scholarship. These rank in order thus: Elizabeth Brown, Albert Bush, John Carver, Wilfred Ward, Margaret Hart, Afton Grunder, Charlotte Collins, Loraine Hansen, Ruth Mc Birney, Margie Fitzwater, Janice Rotering, and Una Compton. Freshmen have a right to feel proud of the mark they have made.

SPORTS
For the past two years the B. J. C. football teams have been coached by Max Eiden. Max has not only produced some excellent football teams for the college but has also coached the basketball and track teams, and maintained a broad athletic program through gym classes for the men of the school who are not engaged in competitive sports.

This year the football team elected Milton Nalley as honorary captain. Nalley well deserved the honor thus bestowed upon him by the team, for he was active in all the college games both this year and last.

Through the gracious consent of the public school board, Boise Junior College was granted the privilege of using Public School Field for its home games. Last year the team was handicapped because most of the games had to be played on Friday afternoons to small crowds. This year, due to the wholehearted support of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the long needed lighting system was installed, making night games possible. Using a white football, the team was able to play to capacity crowds at the Lewiston Normal and Albion games.
This year the college football team played eight games with various Idaho and Oregon teams. In the first B. J. C.-College of Idaho football game in the history of either school, and the first game of the 1935 season, Boise was defeated by a decisive margin. In the next game the Broncos functioned a little better, however, and scored over Gooding College. After the impressive ceremonies at the dedication of the new lighting system for Public School Field, the Broncos, although rated as underdogs, beat Lewiston Normal by three touch-downs. Gooding College was the next victim of the smooth and powerful college team, being defeated, 19-0. Both teams being handicapped by a snow-covered field at Rexburg, Ricks College waded to a 7-6 victory. The defeat by Eastern Oregon Normal last year was avenged on our home field, 12-6. The Southern Branch, at Pocatello, won a hard-fought victory over the Broncos. Although losing to Albion in the Homecoming Game, the B. J. C. football team put up a fight that brought to a climax a week of celebration. Ten men of the team were letter-men from last year.

Yell Leaders

This year B. J. C. was fortunate in selecting a peppy and enthusiastic group of yell leaders who were not afraid of work. This group led the cheering section at all games, arranged for stunts between halves at games, and were responsible to a large extent for the spirit and enthusiasm at the homecoming week. As part of the homecoming celebration, Elmer was created. Elmer, a twenty-foot Bronco on wheels, was the leader of the football rallies and parades. Elmer is now a tradition in Boise Junior College life.

Basketball

The College had only six conference games scheduled, two with the Nampa Nazarenes, two with Gooding, and two with Albion. After the conference games, the team entered the city league tournament where they did very well, finishing the season in a tie for second place, with twelve victories and three defeats.

At the close of the season, three outstanding players — Anderson, Shaw and Giffin— were placed on the mythical all-star team named by officials of the Boise City Basketball League.

YELL LEADERS: Carl McFarlane, Elmer Fox, Charles Beymer.

Tennis

Having two lettermen—Richard Adelmann and Julius Sigmund, the latter winning the Southwestern Idaho Tennis Singles last year—back from last year’s successful team, Boise Junior College has again a powerful tennis team. Handicapped by a late spring, the team did not make a brilliant showing in the first of its intercollegiate meets, winning but one set of singles from six scheduled matches with the College of Idaho. But hard work and practice enabled the team to win, losing but one match in the next two meets.

Baseball

Baseball is a new experiment in Boise Junior College sports. One sees, however, several high school and even college stars on the team. The team was seriously hampered by a late start, and poor weather conditions, but scheduled games with surrounding colleges. The team was whipped into shape for a series of two games played with the College of Idaho. The first was disastrous, the team losing 22-0. But the players rallied with spirit and came back on Friday and were beaten by the comparatively narrow margin of 9-5.

Women's Athletics

Under Coach Max Eiden, Betty Blaine and Maxine Havird conducted physical education classes. Team sports, soccer and volleyball, were taught and inter-class games were played. Through the sponsorship of the A. W., several of the girls began working for letters.

Because of the great interest the girls displayed in basketball, the P. E. classes organized teams for regular class competition. The more interested girls organized a representative team, challenging several outside and city teams. This team upheld the B. J. C. standard.
Tennis

As usual, tennis was the most attractive spring sport. Many girls showed an interest in the game, and class instruction was available to those wishing to improve their game. A spring tournament, including both singles and doubles, was held.

Swimming

The directors of the college made it possible for swimming classes to be offered to all girls. Swimming, besides its practical advantage, is an enjoyable sport, promoting endurance, perfection and grace. The swimming classes were under the supervision of Harriet Klingler.
Dramatics

The first productions of the new dramatics director, Mrs. Helen Mayer-Farrer, were two one-act plays. "Sham," a social satire, pointed with humor, and ending in a clever climax, and "So This Is Paris Green," a broad burlesque of the Parisian Apache world, were popular, and were given in an assembly performance.

The first three-act play of the season, "Petticoat Fever," a farce-comedy by Mark Reed, was presented at St. Margaret's Hall January 30 and 31. The modern humor and the funny situations in which the characters found themselves kept the audience laughing, particularly during the riotous wedding scene of the third act.

Dramatics

St. Margaret's Hall fairly crackled with fluent French, German, and Spanish on April 7, when the annual one-act foreign language plays were presented. The second-year French students participated in a clever comedy, “L’Anglais Tel Qu’on Le Parle.” A second French play, “Rosalie,” given by third-year students, in which an apparently stupid maid proves to be not so stupid, brought many laughs. The Spanish play, “Uno Debe Casarse,” was a lovely romance laid in old Spain. “Die Ankunft” presented an amusing situation evident even to those not familiar with the language.
The Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Lucille Tavey Forter, began rehearsing in October. The club first worked on songs to be sung before an assembly, and then on Christmas music. In carrying on some of the lovely old traditions of St. Margaret's Academy, the Glee Club presented the Christmas candlelight service at St. Michael's Cathedral. The service was held with Miss Margaret Hart, as the Virgin Mary, seated at the cradle under the Star of Bethlehem, while the Glee Club entered, carrying lighted tapers and singing age-old hymns.

Margaret Clark, Freda Pelton, and Eleanor Howe alternated as accompanists of the Glee Club at the rehearsals held weekly throughout the year.
A group which adds much zest to college life is the Songsmiths. This organization, after practicing during noon hours and in the evenings, presents to the student body first class eight-part harmony. It is through the Songsmiths that B. J. C. presents good-will assemblies in other schools. This year they appeared at B. B. U., Link's, the Veterans' Hospital and many other places. Not among their lesser triumphs was the occasion when four of the boys won second prize on an amateur hour contest. At Christmas time the Songsmiths caroled about town for several nights. Freda Pelton assists them at the piano during rehearsals, but in appearances no accompanist is used.

THE GRAND VISIER LEAVING CAIRO

ORGANIZATION
Boise Junior College's annual comes forth into its second year of existence. This year the staff strove to put out an outstanding year book. The staff, under the leadership of Margaret Kroeger, quickly made up the lost time caused by the resignation of Gene Long, editor.

To Mrs. Hatch, we owe our sincere thanks for contributing the “Foreword” and “Dedication.” We also wish to thank the following firms, who contributed to this book in order that it might be a success: Western Engraving and Co., Capital News Publishing Company, Sigler Studio, and Johnson and Son, Photographers.
In Norse mythology the Valkyries were attendants of Odin, who waited upon heroes. With the aim of service to the school and community, the club took the name Valkyries. Membership is limited to fifteen women chosen on a competitive basis. Six-inch letters in the form of a "V" with B. J. C. interwoven down one side are awarded to all members for their service to the school. The girls furnished a colorful club room in red and black.

A series of card parties was given to raise money for a thirty-dollar loan fund for the ensuing year. The club also sponsored several social functions, including firesides and an informal dance. Valkyries sponsored a matinee dance to climax Campus Week.

The BJC Club is an organization of all men who have been officially awarded letters for participation in intercollegiate athletics, including football, basketball, baseball, track, and tennis. Yell leaders are honorary members. The membership includes about thirty lettermen. The aim of the club is to bring independent students in closer contract with the Junior College and student activities, and to advance and strengthen the B. J. C. spirit. The members held various social functions during the year, including dances and a picnic. At the picnic, attended by lettermen and their dates, the new members of the club were initiated. At the annual spring formal they presented their Campus Queen, Miss Helen Harper.

Associated Women

The Associated Women's Club is composed of all the women enrolled at B. J. C. It is governed by a cabinet of six members elected by the women. This year the membership was divided into six groups, the principal object being to increase the club fund. The social chairman, Wilma Hjort, was responsible for the success of the annual "Spinster Skip," given January 11 in the gymnasium. On February 21, the annual A. W. Formal was held in the Crystal Ballroom. Luncheon meetings were held regularly. Friends of the college and mothers of the students were welcomed at a tea given February 12. On April 28, a card party was given to raise funds. The year was closed with a tea and gathering held on the campus.

The Radio Club, made up exclusively of governmentally licensed radio men, operates a station whose call letters are W7EVV. Argentina, Hawaii, Mexico, Japan, Canada, and Australia were communicated with. Considerable experimental work was done in the ultra high frequency field. The equipment for the club's station was furnished by the members.
The Boise Junior College library is small, though rapidly growing. The three cheerful rooms attract many students, who use them not only as reference rooms, but as a study hall. The library is open during school hours and on Saturday morning. Because of its spirit of willingness, Boise Junior College classifies this group of workers as a service organization.
THE CALIPH OF BAGDAD

SOCIETY
Dancing, in the form of a mixer, started the social events of the school year on September 20. In October the Associated Student Body social committee took over its duties of planning all social functions. On November 22 the students climaxed homecoming with a Bronco round-up dance with decorations forming a cattle corral. Costumes and beards prevailed with prizes going to Isol Turner and Nalley, Co-captain Gus Urresti, and Football Queen Margaret Kroeger were announced. When Les Bois went to press elaborate plans were being made for the school’s annual spring formal on April 17, for a “moonlight steak fry” to be staged some moonlight evening in May, and for the final dance in Talbot gymnasium June 5.

Football Queen

Margaret Kroeger, sophomore, was selected 1935 football queen by the Boise Junior College football team. Margaret, on the basis of the qualities governing the selection—personality, sportsmanship, dignity, school-loyalty, spirit and popularity—gained the title from a field of nine candidates, and was presented at the annual football dance.
Representative Woman

Betty Blaine, active and popular sophomore, won the coveted honor of being Representative Woman in a student body election. Betty, with her winning smile, her willingness to serve at any time, her even disposition, and her perfect personality, has won a place in the heart of every Boise Junior College student.

Representative Man

George Doerr, sophomore, won the honor of being B. J. C.'s Representative Man this year. George has a high scholastic rating and is popular among his fellow students, who think of him as "B. J. C.'s business man." He is student body treasurer, and with the aid of his favorite line—"But we haven't much money"—has kept us off the rocks.
Campus Queen

Helen Harper, whose attractiveness, personality, charm, and high scholastic standing have made her well-known and well-liked throughout her school life was chosen by B. J. C. club members as Campus Queen of 1936. She was presented to the student body at the Spring Formal. Members of the student body agree with the choice of the B. J. C. men.

Campus King

Valkyries bestowed the title of Campus King upon "Richie" Adelmann. They might have been influenced by his dancing, but there were many other things in his favor. Maybe it was his likeable personality which has brought him the elective offices of sophomore representative man, freshman class treasurer and vice-president of the B. J. C. Club.
Calendar

Sept. 17—School daze with imported foreigners predominating in their virility.

Sept. 21—We get mixed.

May 9 — Robie creek dance and snake fry. Casualties unknown. At least a case.

May 15 — Annuals out.

June 1 — Can this be spring?

June 5 — Graduation. Goodby.
Obituaries

Grass, grow green on the top of this grave,
Maybe Jack Norton will learn to behave.

Here lies the body of LaVaun Switzer,
Who went out with Blaine and didn't kiss her.

Three bodies (count 'em) on the floor,
You can't cheat at poker when you play with Doerr.

Jenkin' Jill went up the hill,
To get a little skiing—Whoops!!

Poor B. J. C. stude, he couldn't be flatter,
But at last he's escaped that mad, mad Guthmann chatter.

We inter John Maw with deep regret,
He double-crossed Freda, and she doesn't forget.

Let us all look upward when the trumpets sound,
Al Bush kept singing, "It goes round and round."

William Langley, may his soul stay cool,
He rooked McGill on April fool.

Last Words

McClary—Sure, I'll go out with you. Betty won't mind.
Emerson—No, it isn't catching.
Max Eiden—Drink it. I don't think it will hurt you.
Kroeger—Have those in by Friday.
Sherd Baker—Naw, it ain't loaded.
Jenkins—Aw, this hill's easy.
Carrier—So I says to the Dean—.
Albert Bush—I thought you said "uh huh," Miss Wren.
Adelmann—I'm for the Dean.
Carroll Elford—Sure, my brakes are good.
Wally McGill—Come on, toots, my wife won't care.
Alice Mary Barber—Do you care if I take David to the dance tonight, Loraine?
